Negroes Walk Cave Searchers Fail In Protest To Find Missing Boys At Jackson

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Mike Hoag ignored the pain of severe varicose veins again Friday to climb the hills around Hannibal and urge greater efforts the rescuers tearing at rock and soil in search of two of her sons and a playmate feared lost in one of the area's storied caves.

At stake in the search are the lives of Joey Hoag, 13; Billy Hoag, 11, and Craig Dowell, 14, all of Hannibal.

The boys disappeared three days ago. A playmate said he saw them enter Murphy's Cave on the edge of Hannibal. Hopes grew dimmer Friday that Joey, Billy and Craig would be found alive in the caves.

A small brown dog, named Tike, mostly dachshund, from the Hoag neighborhood, failed to lead rescuers to the boys.

Searchers ignored cold and fatigue. One of them, James Mark Twain wrote nearly a century ago. Twain's story, which was fiction, was about Tom Sawyer and Becky Thatcher and their episode with Indian Joe. For all its dangers, the fictional story had happy ending.

Nearly two days of dangerous, painstaking search of the labyrinthine Murphy's Cave were fruitless. Experienced cave rescue teams squired again and again through dark, tortuous passages emerging now into

Venezuela Foils Try By Castro

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The government announced Friday night it had intercepted a 12-man guerrilla landing force led by officers of Fidel Castro's Cuban Communist army. The leader of the party was reportedly killed.

President Raul Leoni said Venezuela is "taking all necessary measures to face this national emergency."

Interior Minister Reinaldo Leandro Mora said Venezuela's patience "is reaching its limit" and the case would be taken before the Organization of American States.

Mora displayed to newsmen two men he said were Cubans captured Monday night when Venezuelan army regulars discovered four Cubans and eight Cuban-trained Venezuelans sneaking ashore from two rubber rafts at Machurucuto, a lonely Caribbean beach 90 miles east of Caracas.

The area is close to a guerrilla mountain hideout and four miles east of Tacarigua Lagoon, halfway between Caracas and Barcelona.

The two Cuban prisoners were produced at a crowded news conference at a government office building across from the presidential palace.

The first, Manuel Gil Castellanos, 25, a slender, frightened-looking man about 5 feet 7, said he was a second lieutenant and had served four years in the Cuban army.

In response to a question he said, "I only came to transport some Venezuelan citizens — around eight."

The next prisoner, a stocky 6-foot militiaman identified as Pedro Cabrera Torres, 29, of Pinar del Rio, was asked what he was doing when caught.

"I was on a guerrilla infiltration operation," he replied. He said nine Venezuelans were along, differing with the number given by Mora, who said there were eight.

Venezuelan authorities said Cabrera Torres and Gil Castellanos had signed confessions.

Military spokesmen said more than $9,000 was found on the body of the Cuban leader of the landing party.

Defense Minister Gen. Ramon Florencio Gomez said four packs filled with supplies were found, as well as a Soviet MK47 rifle, camping equipment and a map of the El Bachiller Mountains, a Castroite guerrilla stronghold.

Mora said Venezuelan troops killed the leader of the expedition. He identified the dead man as Lt. Antonio Briones Moxtoto. Another Cuban, identified only as Lt. Pico, drowned, authorities said.

HEAVILY BANDAGED

Authorities said Gil belonged to "Unit 3040" of Mariano, a Havana suburb. Bandages covered a six-inch cut on his neck. He wore gray trousers and a blue-grey sports shirt.

The minister said the group used two raft-like landing vessels to come ashore in an area not far from the El Bachiller Mountains, where government troops have been hunting Castro guerrillas for months.

Mora said the prize catch provided the Venezuelan government with "irreputable proof that confirms that the attempts to subvert national peace are inspired, directed, and aided from Cuba by Fidel Castro."

Mora told newsmen that in addition to the four Cubans, eight Havana-trained Venezuelans were in on the abortive plan.

The boys were last seen at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and by 7 p.m. members of the Mark Twain Rescue Squad, law enforcement officials and volunteers were probing the cave

Oswald Book Lists Ruby's Telephone

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said Friday Jack Ruby's unpublished telephone number appears in code in address books belonging to Lee Harvey Oswald and Clay L. Shaw.

Garrison told Criminal Dist. Court, his investigators had broken a telephone number code used by both Oswald and Shaw, a retired New Orleans executive accused of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

The district attorney's disclosure runs counter to the Warren Commission report which found no indication of any link between Oswald and Ruby.

MRS. MINNIE GUENTHER

...American Mother Of Year

Arizonan

Wins Honor

As Mother

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnie Guenther, the mother of nine who has devoted much of her life to the Apache Indians, was chosen Friday as the 1967 American Mother of the Year.

Dorothy Lewis, president of the American Mothers Committee, Inc., announced that the selection of Mrs. Guenther was made by a jury from 50 entries.

Mrs. Guenther is the widow of a Lutheran minister. All of her children have had college educations and have contributed to the communities in which they live, the announcement said.

Her husband died in 1961. Mrs. Guenther is the 32nd mother honored by the committee.

She lives in White River, Ariz. The 76-year-old great-grandmother expressed great pride in her nine children, 22 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Asked her formula for raising children, she said: "Give a good Christian foundation to them and they'll build on that."

She said that "basically the teenagers of today are good."

Of the long hair prevalent among many teen boys, she said: "This, too, shall pass."

Chairman John Stennis, Miss.

of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee has said he expects 50,000 additional men to be sent to Vietnam by Dec. 31, a factor which would add $4 billion to $6 billion to spending in the next fiscal year.

One source also said that without a surtax, sharp price increases can be expected during the next fiscal year and this, in itself, would increase government revenues although the figures would be swollen because of inflation.

He also said corporate profits are expected to surge with the anticipated upsurge in the economy and with companies now cutting down on overtime the profit picture won't be as gloomy as anticipated in some quarters.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy through Sunday. Isolated thundershowers today becoming more numerous tonight and Sunday. High today 85 to 90. Low tonight 65 to 72.

Craig's stepbrother, Bill Dean, was everywhere, checking reports and leading rescuers toiling in Murphy's Cave were too busy to investigate.

The boys were last seen at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and by 7 p.m. members of the Mark Twain Rescue Squad, law enforcement officials and volunteers were probing the cave.

Oswald Book Lists Ruby's Telephone

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said Friday Jack Ruby's unpublished telephone number appears in code in address books belonging to Lee Harvey Oswald and Clay L. Shaw.

Garrison told Criminal Dist. Court, his investigators had broken a telephone number code used by both Oswald and Shaw, a retired New Orleans executive accused of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

The district attorney's disclosure runs counter to the Warren Commission report which found no indication of any link between Oswald and Ruby. Oswald was identified in the report as Kennedy's assassin. Ruby shot and killed Oswald at the Dallas Police Station two days after Kennedy's death Nov. 22, 1963.

Garrison's statement came in answer to motions by Shaw's attorneys asking the return of Shaw's address book seized in 1963. The district attorney said, "The code involved is one which is used in Oswald's notebook quite systematically, apparently for the purpose of concealing phone numbers he regarded as sensitive."

"The fact is that P.O. 19,106 has been described to be a coded description of an unpublished phone number in Dallas, Tex., in 1963," the district attorney said. "The code involved is one which is used in Oswald's notebook quite systematically, apparently for the purpose of concealing phone numbers he regarded as sensitive."

The New Orleans district attorney has charged that Oswald, Shaw and the late David W. Ferrie conspired here in September 1963 to kill President Kennedy.

Garrison said Shaw's address book contains a unique address which exists also in the address book of Lee Harvey Oswald, as printed in the Warren Commission exhibits Volume XVI, Page 58."

He said both notebooks contained the same Dallas post office reference: "P.O. Box 19, 106."

"What makes even more significant this interesting concurrence of address is the fact that in 1963 there existed no such post office box number in Dallas," Garrison said.

Rail Union Clashes With Management

WASHINGTON (AP) — Management and labor spokesmen strike now set for June 19 to go clashed on every key point Friday, ahead, labor will cooperate fully in developing a practical program to move all essential items including war materials.

The issue of whether to go along with President Johnson's proposal for averting a threat to his industry, that it would mean a government enforcement officer in every yard, on every train.

J. E. Wolfe, long-time top railroad negotiator in labor disputes, said there appears to be no feasible alternative to a nationwide rail tieup, these were the opposing views.

Leighy asserted that the car proposal, which he said it rewards the corporations and punishes the working man.

Leighy echoed the position taken Thursday by Michael Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, who assailed Johnson's plan as a long step toward a police state.

The President's proposal would put off the threatened strike for another 90 days, during which there would be intensive mediation under a new five-member board. But if no voluntary settlement could be reached in that time, the board's recommendations would go into effect for a period not extending beyond Jan. 1, 1969.

Leighy said Johnson's plan clearly is compulsory arbitration, which he described as utterly one-sided and unfair when forced on the employees of profit-making companies.

Wolfe asserted there is nothing evil about arbitration.

"It is the American way to settle a dispute," he said.

Leighy said the resolution denies the employees "their democratic right to strike" and forces them to take lower wages than they could win by exerting their own economic strength.

The industry spokesman Wolfe said a judgment would point a shotgun at the carriers because they would be losing $2 million a day, half of this in useless payments to the strikers themselves.

Leighy said that if Congress insists on passing legislation, the only way to have it fall fairly on both parties is to provide for federal seizure of the lines.

Wolfe said seizure would set the absolutely nothing, accomplish nothing, but it would punish the industry.

Several of them have said during the week of hearings that they agree with labor's view that the administration proposal is weighted on industry's side.

But administration supporters backing the proposal assert that it will gain in a strength, and probably be passed with little or no change, as the new strike ter Libassi, Gardner's top civil rights adviser, emphasized there will be no change in efforts to desegregate federally financed schools, hospitals and nursing homes.

Many observers had speculated that the reorganization move, announced Wednesday, was timed to smooth the path for the $6.7-billion, two-year, school-aid bill. House leaders announced Thursday they will bring the measure up May 22.

It is facing a strong challenge from a coalition of Southerners and Republicans who want the federal aid parceled out in lump-sum payments to the states.

Subcommittee Hearing

Rail Union Clashes With Management

WASHINGTON (AP) — Management and labor spokesmen clashed on every key point Friday in testifying before the Senate Labor subcommittee on the railroad shopcraft dispute.

On the issue of whether to go along with President Johnson's proposal for averting a threatened nationwide rail tieup, these were the opposing views:

—J. E. Wolfe, long-time top railroad negotiator in labor disputes, said there appears to be no feasible alternative and that industry would accept it.

—G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executive Association, declared the administration bill is grossly unfair because he said it rewards the corporations and punishes the working man.

Leighty echoed the position taken Thursday by Michael Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, who assailed Johnson's plan as a long step toward a police state.

The President's proposal would put off the threatened strike for another 90 days during which there would be intensive mediation under a new five-member board. But, if no voluntary settlement could be reached in that time, the board's recommendations would go into effect for a period not exceeding beyond Jan. 1, 1969.

Leighty said Johnson's plan clearly is compulsory arbitration which he described as utterly one-sided and unfair when forced on the employees of profit-making companies.

Wolfe asserted there is nothing evil about arbitration.

"It is the American way to settle a dispute," he said.

Leighty said the resolution denies the employees "their democratic right to strike" and forces them to take lower wages than they could win by exerting their own economic strength.

The industry spokesman, Wolfe, said a walkout would point a shotgun at the carriers because they would be losing $12 million a day, half of this is jobless payments to the strikers themselves.

Leighty said that if Congress insists on passing legislation, the only way to have it fall fairly on both parties is to provide for federal seizure of the lines.

Wolfe said seizure would settle absolutely nothing, accomplish nothing, but it would punish the industry.

But administration supporters backing the proposal assert that it will gain in a strength, and probably be passed with little or no change, as the new strike deadline nears next month.

The HEW secretary denied also a published report that he had met privately with Gov. Lester G. Maddox of Georgia last week and assured him that changes would be made in the way desegregation guidelines would be enforced.

The meeting was held, Gardner said, but Maddox was advised that "there would be no modification in the guidelines and no lessening of the department's efforts to enforce them."

Gardner's words were echoed by Libassi, who said, "We are not making any concessions."

Libassi, who will have charge of the 278 HEW workers now enforcing civil rights, said speculation that a change may come could hamper his agency's enforcement of the guidelines.

"It would be most unfortunate if local school officials proceeded on the assumption that they did not have to comply with the guidelines," he said. "It will only mean that we will have to initiate more enforcement proceedings as a result."

The reorganization stripped the powers of Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, and other HEW agency heads to order cutoffs of federal funds for school districts or hospitals lagging in desegregation.

LBJ Seeks To Calm Collisions Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported no evidence Friday that the Kremlin deliberately ordered destroyers to worsen U.S.-Soviet relations or that they are related in any way to the situation in Vietnam.

"There were similar incidents in the past, although less serious than those of the last two days."

"We hope that the Soviets are also concerned at such incidents and that they will pay due heed to our protests."

"We trust that we have seen the last of these incidents."

The Defense Department reported that the American antisubmarine exercises continued Friday in the Sea of Japan with at least one Soviet warship observing from a distance but there were no new harassment efforts.

"The harassments and the collisions are serious matters," the State Department spokesman said.

But he added: "We have no evidence that the incidents reflect any deliberate intention to worsen U.S.-Soviet relations or that they are related in any way to the situation in Vietnam."

Answering a question, the Navy disclosed the Thursday collision left a 6-inch hole 10 feet above the waterline on the Walker's starboard bow.

Formal Kremlin diplomatic responses to previous U.S. complaints of dangerously close naval shadowing have arrived anywhere from days to months after the event.

The government-run Moscow radio meanwhile has disputed the U.S. charge, contending the America ships were on dangerous maneuvers which caused the collisions.

But if the Soviet diplomatic reply comes in the same key as the State Department's statement, the affair seems likely to pass into the history books as another in a long series of cold war naval brushes rather than as a major international incident.

The Walker was scraped for the first time on Wednesday by a Soviet destroyer on the high seas between the Soviet and Japanese coasts. The following day it nosed into the rear of another Soviet destroyer.

According to the U.S. version, both brushes were caused by violation of navigation rules by the Soviet ship despite warnings from the Walker.

Six Million Persons Have Drink Problems

A state authority on alcoholism told a Monroe gathering Friday that an estimated minimum six million Americans have a drinking problem.

Addressing the 200 delegates to Region Two Louisiana Conference of Social Welfare, Ashton Brisolara, executive director of the committee on alcoholism for New Orleans, graphically illustrated the affliction of all depicted man as a body, a soul and a mind and said that in treating alcoholics these three factors must be treated together. It is not enough to just treat one of the three independently but that total rehabilitation calls for curing all three.

"Of the many aspects of our normal social life such as family, work and church it is possible for the alcoholic to substitute drinking for any one of these," he told the representatives from 14 parishes in North Louisiana.

"When it is over, the alcoholic has lost all of the others and is left only with drink," said Brisolara.

During the morning session of the day long convention, District Judge Mack E. Barham of Monroe outlined some of the legal aspects of alcoholism to the audience.

Judge Barham said that as many as 25 per cent of local persons involved in a serious nature involve a person with a drinking problem.

He said that Louisiana has the highest auto death rate per miles travelled of any state in the country and that 80 per cent east side of the parish to serve of fatalities show that alcohol the Georgetown. Dry Prong and was a factor in the accident.

Talks Stir Viet Plea From Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — New private contacts with Hanoi appear to be the basis for Secretary-General U Thant's gloomy views on Vietnam and his renewed appeal for an end to the U.S. bombing of the North, diplomatic sources said Friday.

Varied reaction came in the wake of Thant's statement Thursday that he feared a direct confrontation between the United States and Red China was inevitable if the war continues to escalate. He said also he was afraid the initial phase of World War III was under way.

A U.N. spokesman said Thant had been communicating his views privately to diplomats in the past few weeks, and that he decided to make them public at a luncheon given for him Thursday by the U.N. Correspondents association.

Thant met in Rangoon on March 2 with representatives of North Vietnam during a visit to his native Burma. In public statements since then he has stressed his belief that a stop to the U.S. bombing would bring about meaningful talks with the Communists within a few weeks.

He declared Thursday that he had no authority from Hanoi to say talks would occur. But it was learned that Thant has had new contacts with the North Vietnamese since the Rangoon meeting, in line with his avowed aim of continuing his private efforts to arrange peace talks.

Many Asian African diplomats agreed with Thant's latest views of the Vietnam situation. They have been among the most vocal advocates of an unconditional halt to the U.S. bombing as a first step toward peace.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg promptly challenged Thant's assessment. And in a speech in Chicago on Friday, Goldberg declared unfounded assertions that the United States now is seeking a military solution. He reiterated the U.S. offer to cease the bombing if there is a corresponding and appropriate de-escalation by Hanoi.

Thant's latest statement was taken as a new indication of the widening gap between him and the Johnson administration on how to end the war in Vietnam. But a spokesman for the secretary-general said that while it was apparent Thant and the Johnson administration had opposing views, it would be unjust to say Thant was taking the side of Hanoi.

Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told Parliament in Ottawa he shared take into account that South Thant's concern that prospects Vietnam has been suffering of a prolonged war are fraught with danger. But Pearson reflected an opposition demand that has North Vietnam.

Spokesmen for the West were reluctant to comment at the United Nations on Thant's statement. Some privately expressed

Poet Laureate Of England Succumbs

LONDON (AP) — John Masefield, England's poet laureate whose verses sang of the lonely sea and tall ships, died Friday at 88.

He was 22nd in a line of official rhymers to the British crown that included Geoffrey Chaucer, Ben Jonson, William Wordsworth, Sir Walter Scott and Alfred Lord Tennyson. But he wore his honor lightly. "The office of poet laureate," years old.

Years later he wrote, "No man can fail to feel for a ship as for a living thing. She is a living thing, almost a divine thing, who demands and receives service."

But Masefield wanted to see America and he went ashore in New York. For three years he lived as a hobo, working his way to the Pacific Coast and back as a farm hand.

In New York again, he worked as a saloon porter and in a carpet factory, educating himself by reading voraciously in his spare time. He said of his job in the saloon, "What I really did was to wash our cupboards, sweep and scrub the floor, polish the footrags, wash glasses and pacify any warring factions."

Masefield returned to England in 1897, joined a newspaper and began to write poems and stories. His "Salt Water Ballads" came out five years later.

Over the years, he wrote 12 plays, 13 novels, 20 volumes of verse and numerous short stories and essays.

Critics acclaimed him and in 1930 King George V named him poet laureate. Many thought the title should have gone to Rudyard Kipling.

OFFICIAL VISIT

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI) — Vice Adm. John J. Hyland, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, arrived Monday aboard the flagship Providence for a three-day official visit to Malaysia.

Police in Port Swettenham, where the carrier will dock, and in Kuala Lumpur were alerted for possible anti-American demonstrations. Hyland will meet Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and military leaders during his visit.

Masefield's duty as laureate was to produce formal verse on royal birthdays and state occasions. He said such odes lay largely outside his talents.

His recent writing was selected for Queen Elizabeth II's marriage in 1947 when she was a princess, a tribute to Sir Winston Churchill in 1954, a poem to the queen for her tour of Nigeria in 1956 and a sonnet for princess Margaret's wedding in 1960.

Masefield was a teetotaler and he took in cash the traditional laureate's stipend of 130 gallons of wine a year. His annual royal salary totaled $271.60.

In his latter years, Masefield was a tall, gray-haired figure who punctuated his conversation with a shy smile, a broad-shouldered man who walked with the nautical roll he adopted when his footing was the deck of a ship.

His wife of 57 years died in 1960. They had a daughter, Judith, and a son, Lewis Crommelin, who was killed in World War II.

Six Million Persons Have Drink Problems

A state authority on alcoholism told a Monroe gathering Friday that an estimated minimum six million Americans have a drinking problem.

Addressing the 200 delegates to Region Two Louisiana Conference of Social Welfare, Ashton Brisolara, executive director of the committee on alcoholism for New Orleans, graphically illustrated the affliction of alcoholism.

He depicted man as a body, a soul and a mind and said that in treating alcoholics these three factors must be treated together. It is not enough to just treat one of the three independently but that total rehabilitation calls for curing all three.

"Of the many aspects of our normal social life such as family, work and church it is possible for the alcoholic to substitute drinking for any one of these," he told the representatives from 14 parishes in North Louisiana.

"When it is over, the alcoholic has lost all of the others and is left only with drink," said Brisolara.

During the morning session of the day long convention, District Judge Mack E. Barham of Monroe outlined some of the legal aspects of alcoholism to the audience.

Judge Barham said that as many as 25 per cent of local a serious nature involve a person with a drinking problem.

He said that Louisiana has the highest auto death rate per miles travelled of any state in the country and that 80 per cent of fatalities show that alcohol was a factor in the accident.

Presiding over the morning session was Thomas L. Wrenn, counselor for the state department of education, division of vocational rehabilitation in Monroe.

Indicating a new change in the concepts of treating alcoholism was the report of a panel discussion on the services offered by the Forest Glen Rehabilitation Complex in Pineville.

Panel members reported that the alcoholic is now treated to function more adequately with his family and his surroundings and taught a suitable vocation before being released.

They said it is not enough to just "sober him up" and send him back to his old surroundings but to send him back so he is better able and better equipped to cope with those surroundings.

In this respect they indicated a rising trend in after care. Work in the community and at home must help the alcoholic overcome what made him turn to drinking.

Members of the panel included Winston O. Quin, Louisiana Department of Education, division of vocational rehabilitation; Kelly Distefano, psychologist at Louisiana Central Hospital and Dr. Sidney Strickland, psychiatrist at Central State Hospital.

Study Set On Grant School Issue

COLFAX (Special)—The Grant Parish School Board decided Thursday night to conduct a thorough study of the feasibility of consolidating parish's present eight high schools into two.

The board also agreed that any action taken toward consolidation would be put to a parish wide vote.

It has been proposed that one school be constructed on the east side of the parish to serve the Georgetown, Dry Prong and Pollock areas and that another be built on the west side to serve the Colfax and Montgomery sectors.

Architect Scott Yeager of Alexandria appeared before the board and briefed them on how consolidation could be accomplished.

He estimated the parish could afford to raise $2,475 million for the project. He based his figures on assessments from the parish tax rolls.

Mrs. Standley Dies; Rites Set Today

Mrs. Eunice Estelle Standley, 66, of 1914 Stuart Ave., Monroe, died at St. Francis Hospital Friday afternoon after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. today from Mulhearn's Funeral Home, Monroe, with Dr. James T. Hortman, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Survivors include her husband, Frank Parker Standley, Monroe; one sister, Mrs. Sarah Callander, Clovis, Calif.; one brother, Claud Lively, Vidor, Tex.; two half-brothers, Tom Lively, Lafayette, and Whites Lively, Baton Rouge; and a half-sister, Miss Orcitt Lively, Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Standley was a native of East Baton Rouge Parish and a member of the First Baptist Church here. She has lived in Monroe since 1927.

Recruiter Named

Sgt. Jack Antley of the U.S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Monroe was recently named March Recruiter of the Month "for outstanding performance of duty."

The award was signed by Col. A. M. Wilkinson, USMC, director of the 8th Marine Corps District in New Orleans.

Talks Stir Viet Plea From Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — New private contacts with Hanoi appear to be the basis for Secretary-General U Thant's gloomy views on Vietnam and his renewed appeal for an end to the U.S. bombing of the North, diplomatic sources said Friday.

Varied reaction came in the wake of Thant's statement Thursday that he feared a direct confrontation between the United States and Red China was inevitable if the war continues to escalate. He said also he was afraid the initial phase of World War III was under way.

A U.N. spokesman said Thant had been communicating his views privately to diplomats in the past few weeks, and that he decided to make them public at a luncheon given for him Thursday by the U.N. Correspondents association.

Thant met in Rangoon on March 2 with representatives of North Vietnam during a visit to his native Burma. In public statements since then he has stressed his belief that a stop to the U.S. bombing would bring about meaningful talks with the Communists within a few weeks.

He declared Thursday that he had no authority from Hanoi to say talks would occur. But it was learned that Thant has had new contacts with the North Vietnamese since the Rangoon meeting, in line with his avowed aim of continuing his private efforts to arrange peace talks.

Many Asian African diplomats agreed with Thant's latest views of the Vietnam situation. They have been among the most vocal advocates of an unconditional halt to the U.S. bombing as a first step toward peace.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg promptly challenged Thant's assessment. And in a speech in Chicago on Friday, Goldberg declared unfounded assertions that the United States now is seeking a military solution. He reiterated the U.S. offer to cease the bombing if there is a corresponding and appropriate de-escalation by Hanoi.

Thant's latest statement was taken as a new indication of the widening gap between him and the Johnson administration on how to end the war in Vietnam. But a spokesman for the secretary-general said that while it was apparent Thant and the Johnson administration had opposing views, it would be unjust to say Thant was taking the side of Hanoi.

Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told Parliament in Ottawa he shared Thant's concern that prospects of a prolonged war are fraught with danger. But Pearson rejected an opposition demand to situate for a much longer period than has North Vietnam.

Poet Laureate Of England Succumbs

LONDON (AP) — John Masefield, England's poet laureate whose verses sang of the lonely sea and tall ships, died Friday at 88.

He was 22nd in a line of official rhymers to the British crown that included Geoffrey Chaucer, Ben Jonson, William Wordsworth, Sir Walter Scott and Alfred Lord Tennyson. But he wore his honor lightly.

"The office of poet laureate,"

years old.

Years later he wrote, "No man can fail to feel for a ship as for a living thing. She is a living thing, almost a divine thing, who demands and receives service."

But Masefield wanted to see America and he went ashore in New York. For three years he lived as a hobo, working his way to the Pacific Coast and back as a farm hand.

In New York again, he worked as a saloon porter and in a carpet factory, educating himself by reading voraciously in his spare time. He said of his job in the saloon, "What I really did was to wash out cupids, sweep and scrub the floor, polish the footrags, wash glasses and pacify any warring factions."

Masefield returned to England in 1897, joined a newspaper and began to write poems and stories. His "Salt Water Ballads" came out five years later.

Over the years, he wrote 12 plays, 13 novels, 20 volumes of verse and numerous short stories and essays.

Critics acclaimed him and in 1930 King George V named him poet laureate. Many thought the title should have gone to Rudyard Kipling.

Masefield was a teetotaler and he took in cash the traditional laureate's stipend of 130 gallons of wine a year. His annual royal salary totaled $271.60.

In his latter years, Masefield was a tall, gray-haired figure who punctuated his conversation with a shy smile, a broad-shouldered man who walked with the nautical roll he adopted when his footing was the deck of a ship.

His wife of 57 years died in 1960. They had a daughter, Judith, and a son, Lewis Crommelin, who was killed in World War II.

Masefield's duty as laureate was to produce formal verse on royal birthdays and state occasions. He said such odes lay largely outside his talents.

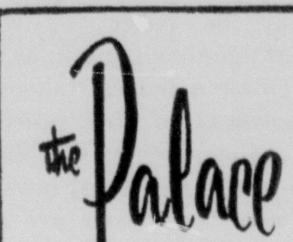

His recent writing was scant. It included poems for Queen Elizabeth II's marriage in 1947 when she was a princess, a tribute to Sir Winston Churchill in 1954, a poem to the queen for her tour of Nigeria in 1956 and a sonnet for princess Margaret in 1960.

Labor Protests Loud

Following President Johnson's recent request that Congress enact legislation which could delay until 1969 a threatened strike that could close down 95 per cent of the nation's railroads, a newspaper used this headline: "Labor howls are loud as Johnson asks rail strike ban." As a matter of fact, the federal government's description of what it says the intended legislation would do is enough to evoke cries either of derision or anguish.

The administration described the proposed congressional action as a step toward "extended collective bargaining and mediation with finality." Labor leaders called it "compulsory arbitration." If you go all the way down to the bottom of it, that is what the administration's explanation means also but it apparently thinks it has summed up the situation in more attractive language. "Collective bargaining with finality" (that is, under government orders) really sounds a lot like compulsory arbitration.

Practically everyone admits that a strike which would close down the nation's railroads would have a devastating effect on the nation's economy, particularly in time of war and when government costs are already at an all-time, sky-high level.

It appears that the demands of the railroad labor unions at this time are ill-conceived and ill-advised. People are groaning under heavy taxes and the government is constantly running a big financial deficit.

In his recent message, President Johnson cited the national interest and particularly the demands of the Vietnam War and called for the creation of a five-man board to seek a solution during an initial 90-day period of the contract dispute between the railroads and the six shopcraft unions.

If no settlement were reached within that time, Congress would be authorized to put into effect contract recommendations made by the board while both sides continued to bargain. No strike would be permitted. Johnson did not ask Congress itself to determine the plans of settlement. The board's recommendation would remain in effect until January 1, 1969.

Ever since Congress enacted legislation making collective bargaining compulsory, labor unions have been doing what used to be called "riding a good horse to death." Figuring the government would always force a compromise between labor union demands and what railroads or industry were willing to pay, the unions always asked about twice what they expected to get with the fond hope that they would get "everything the traffic was able to bear." In other words, they seemed determined to drain off every drop of industry's income that they could get.

If we say forced collective bargaining is compulsory arbitration, which we do, and if we agree that compulsory arbitration deviates from the course of true democracy, which we do, we still are unable to find a reason for saying compulsory arbitration is any tor found that it is common for government workers to retire on nearly full pay when they are in their mid-40's. Welfare cheating is common. Uruguayans are aware of what is happening in their country. They asked the Nation's Business editor: "Is this the way the United States is going too?"

Uruguay, once the "Switzerland of South America," in 15 years, has gone wild over the welfare state. A graphic picture of the situation is given in a recent issue of Nation's Business magazine.

That publication sent an editor to Uruguay to look over the land which, in 15 years, has fallen from the ranks of the most affluent and economically sound to the list of Western nations with the most critical financial problems. The edi-more unfair to the labor unions than to industry.

What labor unions have been wanting and getting is compulsory arbitration for management while still allowing the unions to strike.

If the federal government had never enacted laws for compulsory arbitration, railroad and other managements would have been able to build up reserve money and reserve labor forces so that strikes would not have been totally demoralizing. It has been government insistence that management always take back the same workers that wrecked management's chances to resist whatever demands labor might make.

This being true, the government seemed to be faced with four alternatives: 1. Remove the unions' right to strike, so that bargaining could really be collective, with government agents sitting in as arbitrators. 2. Order a federal takeover and management of the railroad or other managements. 3. Make unions subject to anti-trust laws in the same way those laws are applied to industry. 4. Abolish forced collective bargaining, thus restoring to management the right to bargain with present employees or to find other employees to take their places.

In the present threatened railroad strike situation, the unions are saying they want a government takeover of the railroads. In the long run, that is really about the last thing in the world they do want. Under an obstinate government, which might develop at any time, the unions could be completely divested of their right to strike. It has been shown conclusively that the government has never been able to carry on any industry as efficiently as can private industry. Under government management, the railroads probably would not even pay their own way and the people would be taxed to make up the difference. This surely would not place railroad workers in a favorable light.

For many years, people have been doubtful of a labor union's right to tie up industry's activities on a nationwide basis. If an industry were to attempt to do this, it would face a charge of acting in restraint of trade. That is really what the unions are doing when they carry on interstate strikes.

If the unions want compulsory arbitration, which has long been applied to industry, they should take it as it is and let the government be the arbiter unless an agreement can be reached — and without the right to strike.

If they want the right to strike, industry should be freed of any compulsion to bargain and should be allowed to hire other employees where it can find them. For a good many years, the government has given labor unions a stranglehold over industry. This must stop. Otherwise, industry's ability to go on will come to an end and government confiscation of private property will result.

People of this country now are in no mood for socialism. They probably are farther away from wanting that than they have been any time in the last 30 years.

Welfare For Everybody?

Does there ever come a time when all the citizens of the nation draw enough in welfare checks to enable them to live comfortably without working? That might look like foolish question No. 999 but we often wonder how far any nation can go in dishing out welfare checks.

If the United States should go all the way down that line, it would also become one of the "have-not" nations. Instead of giving many billions in foreign aid to most of the nations of the world, it probably would be standing with its hand out for assistance also. But, if all nations go socialistic, where will that foreign aid come from. All other countries should try to persuade the United States to remain democratic.

Dodd Ex-Employees To Be Quizzed

Rifling Of Senators Files Is Investigated

ONE ASPECT of the Dodd case is due to get a lot more caustic attention in the Senate's impending consideration of the Ethics Committee's censure recommendation that has been accorded in published and broadcast accounts.

This is the extraordinary action of the four dismissed Dodd employees in rifling and leaking thousands of documents from his files.

The Ethics Committee's severe condemnation of this "reprehensible" conduct has been either completely ignored or only passing referred to. In almost all instances, the heavy emphasis has been on the censure pronouncement.

But two top Senate leaders intend to do quite a bit of talking about the curiously disregarded denunciation of the four one-time Dodd employees. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and Democratic Whip Russell Long, La., propose to discuss at length the background and operations of the two men and two women.

Because of the singular muting of the coverage of them, it is not generally realized that the Ethics Committee issued what is in effect a separate report and findings on them.

TITLED "SUPPLEMENTS:

Unauthorized Removal of Documents from Senator Dodd's Office," this report castigates the four employees as harshly as Dodd in the main judgment. The committee also directed that their antics be submitted to the Justice Department for possible legal action.

Following are the committee's little-known stern findings:

"While the committee recognizes the duty of every senator, officer or employee of the Senate, to report wrongdoing to responsible authorities, the committee believes that the unauthorized removal of papers from a senator's office by employees and former employees is reprehensible and constitutes a breach of the relationship of trust between a senator and his staff, is an invasion of what must be considered privileged communications between a senator and his correspondents, and is a threat to the orderly conduct of business of a public office."

"Since the subject employees are no longer in the employ of the Senate, the committee notes that any disciplinary action against them by the Senate is not possible."

"In accordance with Section 2(a)(4) of Senate Resolution 338 of the 88th Congress, the committee has directed the chairman to refer to the Attorney General of the United States for his action or recommendation the matter of the unauthorized removal of papers from Senator Dodd's office by his former employees."

LOCKING BARN DOOR —

While any crackdown against the two men and two women is up to the Justice Department, they are still very much on the mind of the Ethics Committee.

In their inner deliberations, the six committee members (three Republicans, three Democrats) have fully agreed on the necessity for strict measures to prevent a repetition of what happened to Dodd. But while in accord on that, they are still undecided on how to go about it.

Several favor including employees in the code of ethics the committee will formulate and submit to the Senate for approval. Others feel this problem should be referred to the Rules Committee to draft special legislation directed solely at employees.

How much difference will be resolved remains to be seen. But all the committee members are very positive about the imperative need to deal drastically with employees who make themselves free with official files and records.

"The conduct of the people on Dodd's staff was outrageous and indefensible," said a committee member during one of the discussions. "Attempts have been made to gloss it over on the ground it was in the public interest. That strikes me as a shocking alibi for admitted wholesale pilfering of official and private documents."

"UNDER THAT pretext the files of every member of Congress would be liable to pilfering. We can't for one moment tolerate such self-assumed morality and purity. Stripped of the glib claptrap, it's outright lawlessness, and a clear-cut example must be made of these people."

"Failure to do so could very well lead to other affairs of this kind. If these people get away with it, other disgruntled and vengeful employees will attempt the same thing. The Senate has to act, and in an unmistakable manner. The condemnation of these four people in our report is not enough."

The supplemental report was due largely to Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution creating the Ethics Committee.

While pressing an exhaustive investigation of the charges against Dodd, Cooper also insisted on an equally thorough airing of the motives and undercover operations of the four dismissed employees. He urged the committee to pass on the question of the legality of what they did, but this was sidestepped and put in the hands of the Justice Department.

The committee is also split on how far to go in the ethics code in requiring a personal financial account from all the hands of the Justice Department.

Some members want to make such a statement mandatory once a year by both senators and their wives. Others favor putting it on a voluntary basis and covering only senators. There is also sentiment that should be dealt with by a law for all members of Congress with penalties for violation — and not in a toothless code of ethics.

ONE OF COURSE, is that there is now ample substantiation that a gigantic flow of supplies has been put through the Cambodian pipeline. The consequence of this is to prolong the war. The other is that the Communist influence that came along with the supplies now threatens to plunge Cambodia into fiery civil disorder, in which case we would be presented with a deadly backfire blazing right alongside the conflict in Vietnam.

One recent report referred to the situation in Cambodia as no less than "a Communist revolt

NOT ONLY WAS this method of switching munitions used to supply the Viet Cong but some of the supplies were handed over to Communist terrorists right in Cambodia, to be used toward the sort of growing guerrilla warfare that now threatens the nation.

Back in the days when the storm signals were up regarding the use of Cambodia as a Communist roundhouse, it was fashionable to ignore the evidence, to brand those who spoke of it as alarmists and to glow with liberal warmth over the inspiring example of Cambodian "neutralism."

In a well-known phrase of World War II, only the stars are neutral. The nations of earth simply cannot be when pressed between the choice of Communist aggression and tyranny and the free world's will to resist.

And yet, despite the accumulated evidence, it is an even-money bet that the situation in Cambodia easily could develop into a full-scale tragedy before receiving the public attention it so deeply deserves.

Action Of Long Seen

As Self-Destruction

IN THE END, it is the human beings around this town who make the big news and provide the most absorbing drama. Issues are important, of course and the issue that recently has paralyzed the Senate ranks high on this session's agenda. But the self-destruction of Russell Long of Louisiana packs more wallop than the fate of the Senator's law on campaign financing. Spellbound, we have been watching a Phaethon fall.

Since the first of April, the country has paid small attention to the United States Senate; and a good thing, too. For the Senate seldom has appeared less impressive. Throughout this period, the pending business ostensibly was an administration bill to restore the investment tax credit. Actually, the decisive question has revolved around Senator Long's campaign financing act, passed in haste last year, by which perhaps $30 million in tax funds might be diverted in 1968 to the major parties for their presidential race. The question has been: Should the Long Act be preserved or repealed?

IT IS A CLOSE question. Many observers, appalled at the evils of campaign financing that now obtain, have accepted the principle embodied in the Long Act that presidential candidates should be released from dependence upon the fat cats who dominate their campaign funds. Yet the act itself was drawn so ineptly, and thought out so poorly, that it stands vulnerable on a dozen grounds. Wise principle and sound law do not necessarily go hand in hand. A majority of the Senate has demonstrated its desire to repeal the 1966 act and start over.

In fighting to preserve his law, Long has said, in effect, that the act would be repealed only over his dead body. It has turned out just about that way. Day by day, through his own unthinking arrogance, the Louisianian has lost his grip on the reins of power. He has shouted, scolded, threatened, bullied. When the session began, Long's great ambition was to succeed Mike Mansfield as majority leader. That goal has now been lost altogether.

Last week, for example, Long managed mortally to wound New Hampshire's Norris Cotton, one of the most indomitable men in the chamber. "I have not troubled the Senator from Louisiana for six long weeks," cried the outraged Cotton, "but I am not going to be walked upon."

OHIO'S FRANK Lausche a tough man in any fight, suffered Long's high-handedness beyond a point of endurance. "I will not yield," he snapped. "I have listened to the Senator from Louisiana. The Senator can now listen to me. I refuse to concede to the Senator from Louisiana that his judgment is infallible and that only he knows what is right."

Long seemed incapable of accepting defeat with grace. After the key vote of May 2, when the Senate went 52-46 against him, he turned his fury on the gentle Mansfield. All the Republicans had stood united behind Everett Dirksen in opposition. Long looked with scorn at his own majority leader; "I only wish those of us who have responsibility for leadership on this side of the aisle were so effective."

In subsequent debate, Long became obsessed with the first person perpendicular. He spoke contemptuously of "the Senators who oppose me on this issue." He described what he would do "if I had my way." Repeatedly, he reminded his colleagues that "I am manager of this bill," and "I am chairman of the Senate Finance Committee." He recalled that others had attempted in the past to get something done about clean elections, yet nothing had been done. He plunged on, fatally, grandiloquently:

"HOWEVER, the Finance Committee — if I may boast for a moment — under the leadership of the junior Senator from Louisiana, said: 'We will bring in a bill.' We did that. What sort of thanks did I receive for being the only committee chairman to bring in a bill to clean up corruption in government? After the law was placed on the statute books, I was told that it must be repealed."

Many McGrory, writing in the Evening Star, commented that if Long "spends the rest of the session making up with the colleagues he has alienated, he still might not get around to everybody." And the Senator's troubles are only beginning. He comes up for re-election next year. Lyndon Johnson will be running then for President; so will George Wallace of Alabama. And back home in Louisiana, Long will have to take sides.

With a friendly Senate waiting to catch him, Long might master that trapeze and hold his high position; but in the past six weeks, the Senator has thrown his net away. If he fails publicly to support his party's nominee, few of his bruised and battered colleagues will come forth to pick him up.

Committee Chosen To Warn Of Russia

IT IS A SAD commentary on the state of American patriotism that a committee must be formed to warn against the build-up of a military machine now engaged in killing our troops in Vietnam. This, however, is the fact. In Washington last week, such a committee was formed, although the story was not carried in all papers.

For those who missed it, the organization's name is the Committee to End Aid to the Soviet Enemy. The chairman is John Davis Lodge, former Governor of Connecticut, special envoy of the Eisenhower Administration to Costa Rica and Panama, and Ambassador to Spain until 1960. Acting with him are Admiral Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Admiral Arleigh Burke, former Chief of Naval Operations; William F. Knowland, one-time Majority Leader of the United States Senate; members of Congress and prominent businessmen.

C.E.A.S.E. has been set up at a time when the Administration and substantial elements of the business community are pushing hard to increase trade with the Soviet enemy. The business interests may be somewhat excused for thinking in terms of the dollar they may pick up from the Kremlin. Why the Johnson Administration is so involved defies rational explanation. After all, the votes cast in Moscow, Leningrad, and points east can hardly help the White House incumbent.

NEVERTHELESS, White House involvement is a matter of record, and Administration stalwarts in the State and Commerce Departments are beating the drums of legislation to permit the shipment of strategic goods to the Soviets. The Commerce Department's Office of Export Control concedes that "some" of the goods it wants to ship to the Soviet Union can be used for purposes other than the

Thousands In Fatima For Pope

FATIMA, Portugal (AP) — On foot and by bus, thousands of pilgrims crowded into Fatima in a steady rain Friday night for the visit today of Pope Paul VI.

The Roman Catholic pontiff will pray for peace at the Basilica of Fatima, marking the place where three child shepherds 50 years ago said they saw the Virgin Mary in a flash of light over a small oak tree.

Busloads of pilgrims and long files of Portuguese women, loads balanced on their shawled heads, moved in the rain toward the basilica.

Uncounted thousands stood in the rain before the basilica at successive Masses celebrated on a huge dais high above their bowed heads. Hour after hour the music of the Mass sounded through the hills.

Other thousands walked the muddy streets of Fatima, many of them with bandaged feet which they had scraped bloody on their long journeys.

Many pilgrims huddled around small charcoal fires after watching truck after truck unload five tons of flowers to adorn the sanctuary of the Basilica of Fatima.

Other pilgrims still were winding their way through the hills to be on hand when the pontiff, making the fourth trip abroad of his reign, takes part in Mass on this 50th anniversary of the Vision of Fatima.

During the day, the shrine's concrete esplanade, twice the size of Rome's St. Peter's Square, was jammed. There were shepherds in leather trousers and peasant women in black shawls mingling with pilgrims from Lisbon — men in business suits and women wearing black mantillas.

Carnations, orchids and gladioli decorated the papal rostrum, where the red velvet throne of the Pope was in place.

Apparently at the Pope's request, the only surviving witness of those who reported the vision of the Virgin Mary 50 years ago will sit among honored guests, church sources reported.

Sister Lucia, 60, was 10 when she and two companions, now dead, said they saw "a Lady of Light" above a small oak tree on the site that is now the Shrine of Fatima.

Sister Lucia of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, lives at the Carmelite convent of Santa Teresa at Coimbra. She was permitted to break her sheltered convent life to participate in the Pope's visit.

Sister Lucia, a high Church source said, was reluctant to sit on the rostrum but agreed when she was told she would be seated in a discreet place.

Defense Department Set To Stiffen Drug Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department plans a major stiffening in its requirements for drugs procured commercially for the armed forces and eligible dependents, it was learned Friday.

The department, which buys virtually all its drugs on the basis of generic names — as distinguished from usually higher-priced brand names — and purchases about $100 million worth yearly, soon will begin to require that:

Pharmaceutical firms, offering their own generic variety of a previously established brand-name drug, furnish proof of its therapeutic equivalence — that is, proof that their variety is as effective as the comparable brand-name substance.

A department spokesman told a reporter the policy change will become effective in about four or five months, starting on a modest scale with only a relatively few drugs involved at first.

He said the policy change results primarily from complaints several years ago by some military doctors that a few drugs purchased under the present policy had doubtful effectiveness and may even have caused undesirable side effects.

He indicated that those particular drugs — which he declined to name — no longer are used. But he said the new policy is intended "to improve the quality of the products we get, and to be sure that what we get is quality."

The spokesman is an aide to Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, deputy assistant secretary of defense for health and medical affairs.

He said the action was not prompted by the running controversy over the cost of generic versus brand-name prescription drugs.

But word of the Defense Department's planned policy change leaked out virtually on the eve of hearings on that disputed subject. These are to begin Monday before the monopoly subcommittee of the Senate Small Business Committee.

Tip-off on the development came from sources in the office of U.S. Medicine, a nongovernmental weekly newspaper for federal physicians. Editor of the publication is Dr. Robert J. Benford, formerly of the office of the surgeon general of the Air Force, and more recently medical consultant for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

In its issue to be delivered to subscribers Monday, the publication quotes Fisk as saying that in the past:

"We've had some products referred that were not worthy of purchase, but they have had political backing. We've had some flap, but not too much."

Fisk didn't elaborate on the political reference.

Fisk's aide told a reporter that under Defense Department drug-procurement regulations "we buy the lowest-priced product that gives us acceptable quality," and that while the department is not required by law to purchase generic drugs, the

Ky Seeks Presidency Of Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky made it official Friday — he intends to run for the presidency of South Vietnam in the national election Sept. 1.

But his most powerful potential military opponent, Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, said he still may be a candidate to head up the civilian successor to the military government.

In making public announcement of his intentions during a trip to Dalat, a mountain resort 150 miles northeast of Saigon, Ky said he would step aside if Thieu decided to run.

"I will never oppose him," Ky said.

A few hours later, Thieu's office issued a statement saying Thieu "is still considering running and is still a possible candidate." The statement quoted Thieu as saying, "I have no right to agree or not to agree with the candidacy of Gen. Ky."

A high Vietnamese source said: "He's just waiting to see who's running."

And although Ky told newsmen at Dalat he definitely would withdraw if Thieu decided to run, the official Vietnam Press version of Ky's announcement had him saying he "possibly" would withdraw.

Any military men campaigning for public office under the new constitution would have to get leave of absence from the armed services. It is not clear under tentative agreements whether candidates would be required to resign from the armed forces if elected.

Ky heads South Vietnam's air force as air vice marshal.

Thieu holds an army commission as a lieutenant general.

A clash between the two could split the military. Although the military candidate is now considered the best bet to win, a split could allow a civilian to slip in.

The Armed Forces Council announced last week that there would be no official military candidate for the presidency. He is a French-educated engineer.

PREMIER NGUYEN Cao Ky operates a Japanese cultivator at Dalat, Vietnam, where he announced he is a candidate for president in the nation election to be held Sept. 1. One hundred of the cultivators were purchased by the Dalat cooperative. Dalat is a mountain resort 150 miles northeast of Saigon. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Saigon)

Guglielmo Reports On Insurance Year

"The past year has been a good one for the insurance industry," Louisiana Insurance Commissioner Dudley Guglielmo told members of the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters who wind up their convention here today.

In his speech delivered Friday afternoon at the Paragon Club, Guglielmo noted Louisiana citizens paid approximately $450 million for life and accident and health protection for 1966 and approximately $365 million for fire and casualty insurance.

"Life companies now have approximately $12 billion of insurance in force on individual and group policies of Louisiana citizens," Guglielmo continued. He said the life, health and accident business alone accounted for more than $5.5 million of the approximately $14 million in taxes collected in the first 10 months of the current fiscal year.

Also on Friday afternoon, Walter R. Watts Jr., Shreveport, was elected new president of the Louisiana Association of Life Underwriters.

Other officers elected were Duffy R. Porche Jr., Baton Rouge, first vice-president; J. D. Smith, Alexandria, second vice-president; William Inabinet, Monroe, (North) regional vice-president; Clyde Hebert, New Iberia, (Central) regional vice-president, and Tom Landry, Baton Rouge, (South) regional vice-president.

Porche was also chosen to receive the LALU Man of the Year Award, while the Lake Charles Association of LALU Membership Award.

Continuing, Guglielmo said, "Comparatively speaking, we have so very few complaints relating to the sale of ordinary insurance that I think that this is a tribute to the caliber of people who make up your profession."

Referring to the fact that life, health and accident business alone had accounted for more than $5.5 million in taxes collected in the first 10 months of the current fiscal year,

"These figures bear out what you already know — this past year has been a good one for the life insurance industry. The present year promises even greater things for we know that the per capita income in Louisiana is steadily on the rise — people have more disposable wealth — people are becoming more insurance conscious — and thus, the market is ever growing."

Guglielmo said also, "As insurance commissioner, I have been the 'bad guy' now for almost four years. For despite every effort that I have made in the public's behalf, I cannot get the point across that I do not make rates."

"I want you to know, so you can tell others who look to you for advice, just how rates are made. I also want to make it clear to you what I have done to try to stabilize and encourage insurance companies to write coverage for the public at reasonable rates."

"I have never voted for a general rate increase for all companies in either the fire or casualty field since I have been insurance commissioner. In the automobile field, I did not think a general rate increase was needed for all companies, especially since we had some companies who were charging less than the manual rate. I still do not think the solution to the automobile insurance problem is continual rate increases."

Guglielmo also said he opposed the general rate increases in the fire insurance field. "I realize Hurricane Betsy dealt the companies a severe blow in Louisiana, but I do not think this catastrophe should be charged entirely to the citizens of Louisiana."

"I assure you if this catastrophe had happened in New York or one of the eastern states, it would have been handled differently, and the loss spread nationwide."

Featured Friday night was the President's Ball and Banquet at which time recognition of past presidents and presentation of the golf trophy were held.

Congressman Otto E. Passman will be the featured speaker of the convention at 9:30 a.m. today in the ballroom of the Paragon.

Two Defend Appearance Of Perez

Two members of the Greater Ouachita Citizens Council denied Friday they timed segregationist Leander Perez's appearance in Monroe with school maintenance elections in both the parish and city school system.

Perez spoke at a private club here May 4 and called for defeat of any school tax that supported an integrated system. The two school taxes, voted on May 6, passed but by narrow margins.

Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard and Commissioner W. D. Rodriguez were both critical of Perez's tactics which appeared to be timed with the two elections.

Ray Boys, president of the citizens council, and the Rev. H. L. Driskill, 5th District organizer for the state organization, said efforts to arrange Perez's talk began before Easter. They said the speech did not take place until May because of the problem they had in finding a place for him to speak.

Boyd said his group was denied use of the West Monroe High School auditorium and the Ne-Sampognaro's village High School auditorium. Monroe Supt. of Schools Van D. Odorn said this was the case with Neville, but Ouachita Parish Supt. of Schools Milton Hall said he understood the group had made plans for West Monroe High then cancelled.

"It is the board's policy to allow use of the auditorium, when there is no conflict with school activities, if the persons seeking it are citizens of the community and have children in the school," Hall said.

Mrs. Watson Dies; Rites Incomplete

Mrs. Raymond T. Watson, 2318 Racine Dr., Monroe, died Friday afternoon at St. Francis Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete but will be under direction of Mulhearns Funeral Home of Monroe.

Mrs. Raymond was the widow of the late Rev. Raymond T. Watson, pastor of St. Johns Christian Church, who died last Sunday night.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. J. G. Chambliss, Shreveport; two sisters, Mrs. O. G. Loomis, South Fort Mitchell, Ky., and Mrs. Melvin McNamee, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; her mother, Mrs. Mary P. Johnson, Louisville, Ky.; and three grandchildren.

The family requests that any planned memorials be made to the St. Johns Christian Church building fund.

Deaths

Mrs. Mattie Morse

Pfc. Verner O. Wilson Jr. 20, of the U. S. Marine Corps was killed Monday in the vicinity of Quand Tri, Republic of Vietnam.

His parents Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Wilson Sr. of Route 1, West Monroe, received a telegram Tuesday from the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. Wallace M. Green Jr., which said "Your son sustained fragmentation wounds to the body from satchel charge while engaged in action against hostile forces." He would have been in the Marines one year Tuesday, and he had been in Vietnam since last October.

Arrangements for a military funeral are incomplete pending the arrival of the body from Vietnam but will be under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home in Monroe. Burial will be in Hasley Cemetery in West Monroe.

Pfc. Wilson attended West Monroe High School having quit school one month before graduation to enter the Marines. He had danced many times on television programs and in theater productions in the Twin Cities area and was a raiser of Champion livestock having won many ribbons for his stock in Northeast Louisiana livestock competitions.

Survivors include his parents; one sister, Mrs. Dixie McDaniels of New Orleans; and a maternal grandmother Mrs. Anna slate of Malvern, Ark.

Area Council Gets Report On Housing

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — At the Thursday night meeting of the Lake Providence Board of Aldermen, Buck Gibbs with C. A. Frey and Associates of Shreveport, architects and engineers for the proposed Lake Providence Low Rental Housing Project, reported that once suitable sites are found, then everything will be clear for federal aid in the construction of 150-200 units.

Bob Aillet of Aillet, Fenner, R. E. Neal, ASC administra-

Jolly and McClelland of Shreveport, engineers for the proposed sewer and water expansion in Lake Providence, gave a report on progress made to date. He said that his firm hoped to get field workers in Lake Providence or on the scene within the next two weeks.

W. M. Knobles gave the results of a survey of the town's insurance system, offering recommendations.

R. E. Neal, ASC administrator, appeared before the group and presented the provisions of the Greenspan Program. Greenspan is the name given a community action program provided in the cropland adjustment program.

All bids were rejected on town owned and used vehicles, and aldermen decided to readvertise for bids.

The council, in regard to the question of reserved parking for all legitimate claims for the meters in the town, decided reserved meters.

West Monroe garbage and refuse collection practices are now being surveyed under a

The Rev. Marion Byrd will conduct the services, and burial will be in the Harris Cemetery near Winnsboro under the direction of First National Funeral Home here.

Mrs. Morse died in the Rogers Clinic of Winnsboro at 2 p.m. Friday after a lengthy illness.

Survivors include six daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Roper, Hot Springs, Ark., Mrs. Bessie Caldwell and Mrs. Mary Gravelle, both of Winnsboro, Mrs. Kate Payne of Crowley, Mrs. Theodore Supina of Tucson, Ariz. and Mrs. Norma Smith of Alexandria; 16 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Road Progress Reports Given

A progress report on three West Monroe highway projects has been made to the Streets Committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce by A. A. Braddock, District Engineer with the Louisiana Highway Department.

The report covered the widening to four lanes of Thomas Street between I-20 and U.S. 80, the upcoming May 17 bid opening for widening of North 7th Street between Cypress Street and Arkansas Road, and the upcoming June bid opening for making U.S. 80 a four lane highway from North 7th Street to the Claiborne community.

Braddock, who made the report Thursday, said he was pleased with the "splendid cooperation" of the City of West Monroe, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury, and the Department of Highways.

Commanding Deputy For Polk Named

FORT POLK (Special) — Brig. Gen. Wendell J. Coats, a 31-year Army veteran, will become Fort Polk's deputy commanding general Monday.

General Coats has been serving as deputy director for Supply Headquarters, U. S. European Command, since the summer of 1964.

During World War II General Coats served in Europe with the 9th and 39th Field Artillery Battalions.

Upon his return to the United States after the war, he received a master of arts degree in journalism in 1949 from the University of Wisconsin and was granted the degree of doctor of philosophy by Georgetown University in 1963.

Included among his decorations are the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star for valor and the Army Commendation Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

General Coats, who graduated from West Point and attended several specialized Army schools, has held key posts with the Department of the Army.

WHAT HAPPENED TO POT BELLIED STOVE?

HIPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The modernistic new lobby of the New Era really confused one man.

He parked his car in front of the building, entered the lobby and walked up to the front desk. "I'd like a single room for two nights," he said.

"This is a newspaper office," he was told.

"My gosh," the stranger gasped, "I thought it was a motel."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen of the 14 Republican members of the House Banking Committee aimed a blow Friday at associates of the Soviet Union and its European allies by introducing legislation to prohibit the supply governments fighting the Export-Import Bank to help finance the export of U.S. goods to countries that proposed $50-million financing.

Louisiana Institutions Board Fires Warren Cormier For Second Time

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)— "What a big laugh," he said tentily, brought up the matter as the board convened.

The State Board of Institutions fired Warren Cormier a second time Friday, accusing the head of the Louisiana Correctional and Industrial Institute of striking inmates and of fiscal mismanagement.

Cormier noted that charges lodged against him at the last civil service hearing were proven false. "I have read the

Farm Unionist Charged In Threatening Ranger

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. "That is not true," Burgos (UPI) — Eugene Nelson, fiery told UPI. "In the matter of the president of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee of Tamaulipas has not intervened in any way there." Nelson was arrested Friday on charges of threatening Texas Rangers.

Starr County Atty. Randall Nye said Nelson walked into the sheriff's office and told dispatchers there would be some "dead Rangers" if they didn't "lay off." UFWOC members picketing to try to delay the million-dollar Rio Grande Valley melon crop.

Nelson called the charge "preposterous" and said his own life was threatened by Rangers en route from the union hall where he was arrested to the jail.

Bond was set at $2,000. Union officials said it would be posted.

Pickets of the UFWOC and a Mexican union were placed on both sides of the International Bridge in Roma, Tex., Thursday, to keep Mexican "green card" workers from crossing to work the harvest.

Members of the Confederation de Trabajadores Mexicanos — Confederation of Mexican Workers — took down their picket Friday, however.

There were reports that the governor of the Mexican state of Tamaulipas had ordered federal policeman to intervene but Alberto Burgos, denied it.

Tonight's GSC Cinder Run May Produce Many Records

By TOMMY POINDEXTER
World Sports Writer

Judging from the times and distances already recorded tonight's 18th annual Gulf States Conference track and field meet could result in 10 new records one tied standing.

Although Southwestern is a heavy favorite to cop its third straight team title, this does not mean that they will be the only team to set records.

However, the Ragin' Cajuns will be favored to nail down at least the first two spots in the 440 dash with two fine quartermilers in Stewart Blue and Charles Beazley.

Blue, last year's conference champion, winning with a 48.0, has a 47.3 clocking so far this season and with the conference record 47.4, the lanky speedster may walk off with a gold medal and the record. But, teammate Beazley, who has done 47.5 this year has the ability to push the champ to the finish string along with two other runners. Elliot Cortright of Southeastern has a top seasons mark of 47.7 and Copewalker Bill Jongbloed has clocked 47.9, so the USL runners will have their work cut out for them.

As exciting as the quarter-mile may seem, it will take quite a feat to our shine the 440 intermediate hurdles with stick men like Northeast's Roger Mann, Southwestern's Bobby Domingues and Louisiana Tech's Wayne Williams. All three runners have clocked better than 53.3 and the meet mark is only 53.6.

Mann boasts the best clocking of the lot with a 52.5. Domingues and Williams have both been timed in 53.2 but Williams has taken a slight edge over the Tribe hurdle sensation in their last two outings.

The 120 high sticks will be a different story with defending champion Roger Mann and Tribe freshman Richard Polk second. Mann has clocked a wind 13.4 for the fastest time in the world this season and a legal 13.7 in last Saturday's Northeast Invitational while Polk has topped the timbers in 14.2 on several occasions this year. The conference record is 13.9 and it is almost a sure thing that Mann will cut it lower this evening.

Two Southeastern hurdlers Max Earhart Gus Madere and Tech's Grey Easterling have 14.5 clockings.

If Mann wins it will be the 10th year in a row that an Indian hurdler has won the event and it will be his third championship.

The Tribe speedster boasts the top 220 clocking with a 21.0 which is a tenth better than the meet mark. Thiel has reeled off a 21.1 and McCartney 21.7 to prove that they can supply the champ with opposition.

A meet standard that is sure to come, is the three mile run which will replace the two mile and with distance men like Irishman John McDonnell of Southwestern, Brendon Mihihan of Tech and Northwestern's Paul Trueman along with two other runners from USL, Howard Trahan and Louis Maraisit it could prove to be a crowd pleaser.

McDonnell will bring the top clocking of 14:24.9 to Trueman's 14:24.9 followed by Trahan's 14:36.2 and 14:59.2 for Maraisit. A foursome of McCartney, Blue, Galen LaBauve and Jim Barrileaux have a 40.8 timing in the 440 baton event which shows that they are capable of tying the fast mark which was set last year by Northeast at 40.8. The Tribe has a 41.4 clocking followed by Southeastern (41.5).

The solo sprints gave the Pirates and Billy O'Dell a 2-1 lead they never relinquished. O'Dell gave up four hits, struck out three and walked two before a blister on his left hand forced him out of the game with one in the eighth.

It was the third victory without a loss for the diminutive from a severe off-season attack of Addison's Disease to earn a place in the Pirate starting rotation.

Redman Don Warren is a threat to the long jump mark of 24 - 1 1/4 set in 1963 by former Demon Monte Ledbetter. Warren has a 24 - 9 1/2 to his credit and a 47 - 7 triple jump best. Ronnie Murphy, who last week in the Northeast Invitational, leaped 49 feet in the triple jump and established himself as the closest challenger to the mark of 48 - 4 1/4.

Both Northeast strongman Mike Shepherd and USL's Joe Murry have thrown the iron ball better than the existing GSC mark of 53 - 3 set last year by Joe Redding of Northwestern. Shepherd has tossed the ball 53 - 7/8 to Murry's 53 - 8, so both of them are prime candidates to raise the mark.

Either Louis Lenfant of USL the defending conference Vaseline champion, who has a season best of 235 - 6 or Bob Barlow (233 - 10) of McNeese may do away with the GSC mark of 233 - 1 set in 1965 by Glenn Ermatinger of Northwestern.

Cajuns Defend GSC Golf Title, Share Tennis Honor With Tech

By STUART HILL
World Sports Editor

The University of Southwestern Louisiana finished in a tie for the Gulf States Conference tennis title and defended its golf crown to move into an insurmountable lead in the league's All - Sports Trophy standings Friday with tonight's track meet the only remaining event on the GSC Spring sports card. A number of two doubles win by USL's Bev Hoffman and Frank Mueller pulled the southwestern Indians into tie with Louisiana Tech for the tennis crown.

Wayne Peddy of Northeast managed to prevent a USL runaway in the golf tournament as he won the individual medalist title in a sudden - death playoff, but the Ragin' Cajuns finished a full 14 shots ahead of the Indians in the golf team standings.

Counting the best four of five individual golfers, Southwestern toured the Bayou DeSiard Country Club layout in 878 strokes with Northeast taking second with 892 shots. Nicholls State finished third with 910 followed by Louisiana Tech, 914, Northwestern, 923, McNeese, 936, and Southeastern, 939.

USL and Tech each compiled 18 points in tennis on a scoring system based on round-by-round advancement with Southeastern, the defending champ, taking third with 16 points. McNeese finished fourth with 15 points, Northeast had 7, Northwestern 3 and Nicholls, which was shut out in all opening round matches, got 0.

By the time the second doubles match had extended into a third set, Tech had already sewed up a tie for first with the winner of the match. The loser would automatically be sent to a fourth place finish. Hoffman and Mueller, the number four singles champ, dropped David Clayton and Chuck Tornabene of McNeese, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2, to give USL the first place tie.

Southeastern could have defended its crown with a win in the top doubles match, but Tech's Bill Keith and Steve Thurber, who lost the number two singles title to Jerry Medicus of Southeastern, had different ideas. The Tech duo stopped Medicus and number one singles champ, Harold Buquoil, in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5.

The golf championship and the co - tie in tennis give USL a total of 35 points in the All-Sports Trophy race. Even if the Cajuns, who are favored to win, finished last in the track meet at Brown Stadium tonight, and Tech, which is second in the trophy race, won it, USL would still win the trophy.

Tech has a total of 27 1/2 points followed by NSC with 26 1/2, Northeast with 26 1/2, McNeese with 22 1/2, SLC with 16 1/2 and Nicholls USL's Ben Freeman on the 16th hole when Freeman bogied. The pair parred on in with Peddy lifting a sand-wedge to within inches of the cup on 18.

The number one golfer for Northeast, Peddy went on to win individual honors with a birdie on the 520 - yard third hole of a sudden - death playoff. Both Peddy and Freeman finished with 215 totals — 15 over par.

Ricky Hyland of Northeast, who could have shot one over par on the last nine to win the medalist title, finished third with a 217 after a final round of 73, three - over - par. Steve Smith of Nicholls took fourth with 219 while Tommy Thomas,

BUQUOI, the only defending singles champ to return for the 1967 GSC tournament, stopped

Bob Rogers and Don McMath, all of USL, finished with 221 in a tie for fifth.

Rogers won a three - way playoff for the fifth spot for purposes of an All - Conference team. League officials declare the first five places in golf and tennis as All - Conference teams.

Pat O'Brien of McNeese, the defending golf champion, soared to 78 on the final round of the 54-hole tournament and finished with 230, in a tie for 14th. O'Brien had been troubled with his back since Monday.

Buquoil, the only defending singles champ to return for the 1967 GSC tournament, stopped

Irvin David of Southwestern in two sets to defend his crown. Buquoil polished off the USL ace in 6-2, 8-6 in the championship match, but had lost to David, 6-4, 6-4 in a regular season dual match.

Medicus beat Thurber for the number two title, in a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 marathon in the 90-plus degree weather.

Tommy Green shot Tech into the tennis title picture with a 7-5, 6-2 win over Jim Shelby of Northeast in the number three singles crown match while Mueller topped Wayne Bono of McNeese, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2. Tommy Wilson kept McNeese in the tithe running up until the last doubles match with a 3-6, 6-4, 6-0 win over Northeast's John Walker.

David and Thurber were the only top seeded players who failed to win their divisions and three winners of singles titles dropped their first set.

Freeman started the day at Bayou DeSiard even with par. He finished two over on the first nine of the day and one under on the second. But, on the third nine he took 39 shots while Peddy made up five shots on the same nine. Peddy was five shots behind Freeman at the start of the final day.

WAYNE PEDDY, left, of Northeast lifts a shot out of the trap on the 16th hole during the Gulf States Conference golf tournament Friday at Bayou DeSiard while Ben Freeman of USL swings his putter in disgust after leaving his putt short on 16. Peddy pulled into a tie with Freeman for medalist honors on 16 and then went on to win on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff. Both finished with 215 totals. (Photos by Stuart Hill)

USL Should Do It Again

Southwestern is favored to make it three championships in the best depth of the six team a row and there's the possibility of new records in as many as years when the meet has been 11 events in the annual Gulf States Conference meet here today.

Northeast State is host school for the conference meet, which begins at 10 a.m. in Brown Stadium with finals in the javelin, triple jump and prelims in the dashes and hurdles. The league has shown better balance this season with Southeastern and Louisiana Tech considered capable of giving a Northeast at a hot fight for second. Northeastern and McNeese, while they have strong entries in several events, are not rated deep enough to seriously contend for the championship. The seventh

GSC member, Nichols State, students for the night portion. One new record is assured in Southwestern, which has won two narrow decisions in a row in the meet, that in the three-mile, over Northeast in this meet, is being run for the first time this favored to win again on the year. Existing conference records of the league's best per-cords, which are set only in the league meet, have been surpassed this year by GSC athletes in 10 other events.

Ronnie Fountain of Northeast has bettered the 220 (curve) record he holds this year and two runners, Elliott Courtright of Southeastern and defending champion Stewart Blue of USL, have surpassed the 440 standard.

Northeast's Roger Mann has bettered the high hurdles mark and he and USL's Ed Dominguez and Tech's Grey Easterling have posted better times than the 40 intermediate hurdles record.

Tim Hall of Tech is regarded as the strongest bet for a new record. He has thrown the discus 182-3, more than 14 feet farther than the record.

High jumper Richard Graves of USL, long jumper Don Warren of Northeast and shot putters Joe Murry of USL and Mike Shepherd of Northeast have bettered the records in their events.

Southwestern's Louis Lenfant and Bobby Barnes of McNeese have bettered the javelin record and Ronnie Murphy of McNeese has surpassed the triple jump mark.

GSC athletes have matched conference marks in two other events, the 100 and the 440 relay.

ChiSox Fans Lose Bounce To Cold, Wet Spring

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox seem to be impressing everybody except the weatherman, running some 40,000 home customers behind last year because of the cold, wet spring.

Eddie Stanky's Pale Hose, who took a six-game winning streak and a 14-7 over-all record against the California Angels Friday night, were watched by only 54,111 over seven prior home dates.

That compared with 94,483 for the first seven home dates last year when the Sox were in fifth place at this stage with 12-9.

The only good weather we have had at home was for our Comiskey Park opener April 15," Traveling Secretary Howie Roberts said Friday.

The perky Crosstown Cubs have suffered from the weather too, dropping almost 12,000 admissions from last year's total of 79,283 for the first 12 home dates.

John Holland, Cub vice president, reported the entire National League is hurting from the weather.

"The league is down close to 300,000 in attendance," said Holland. "There were 30 postponements forced by the weather in the first four weeks of the season, the most of any spring since 1953."

The weather, however, has failed to numb the hot White Sox on the field.

Supposedly pegged as a club dedicated to close-to-the-west play behind good pitching, the Sox have unleashed surprising homer power in Tommy Agee with five, Pete Ward with four, and Tom McGraw with three.

"The Sox blasted four homers Wednesday night in whipping the reeling Baltimore Orioles 13-

1. The club has belted 14 homers for the season, surprising muscle for the Sox.

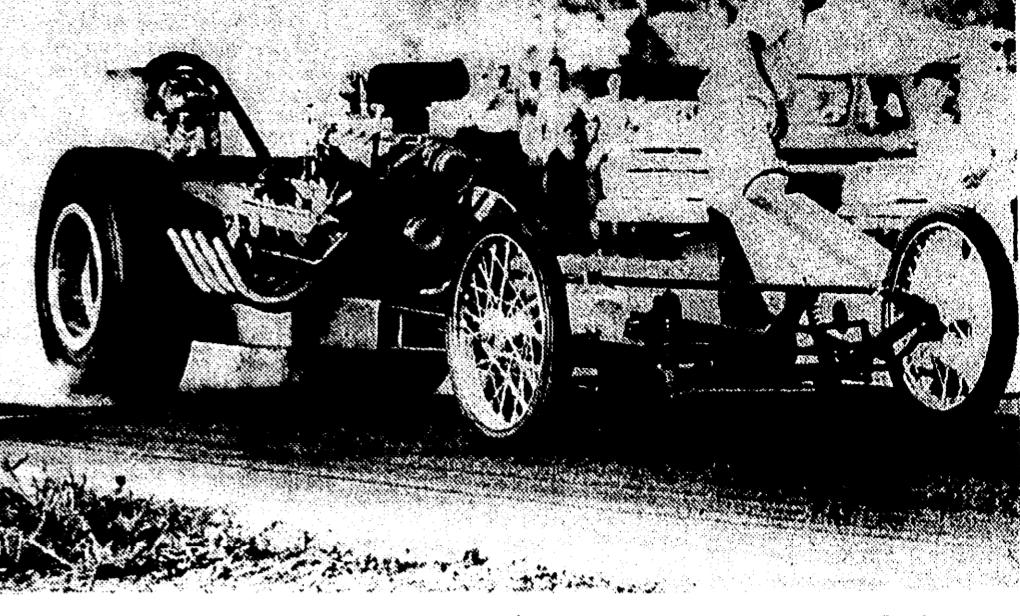

An improved Don Buford at third base, a healthy Ward in left field and a fast start by pitcher Joel Horlen have contributed greatly to the Sox surge.

Stanky said of Horlen, who had a 3-0 record for his first four starts and a slick 1.16 ERA: "Joe's mistakes last year were homers. This year, they're singles."

Buford has only a .221 batting mark, but has walked 11 times and the little third sacker has been a defensive surprise.

"Last year, you couldn't rate Buford more than a little-above-average third baseman," commented Stanky.

"But this year, he's long-arming, measuring his throws to first and they aren't going into the dirt."

Clay's Former Boxing Buddy Out To Take Over His Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — One proposal for the tournament is elimination bouts among the top eight heavyweights. Ellis, 21, is currently ranked eighth by the World Boxing Association.

Ellis wants the heavyweight championship Clay lost in a bout with his draft board.

Clay, stripped of his title for refusing to be inducted into the armed forces, is fighting just to stay out of prison. He could be jailed up to five years.

Ellis said he would have liked to fight Clay for the title but didn't make any difference. If he'd just as soon be named a man going to be the champion by winning an elimination tournament composed of the top-ranking heavyweights. Ellis also thinks he would have a good chance of defeating Clay. In fact, he once defeated Clay in a fight he was in the ring with Cassius Clay.

"I just know how he fights," Ellis said. "You can't get in the ring with someone that much and know how he fights. I'd catch him sometimes and he'd catch me."

Ellis said his style in the ring was a little different from Clay's. "I don't jump around as much as he does." Ellis' style out of the ring is also a contrast. Ellis doesn't talk as much as his old friend.

"I'll let my fighting do the talking," Ellis said. "And if I keep fighting good, I won't have to say a word."

But Clay is out of the picture at least for the present, leaving Ellis to pursue the title with at least one advantage. Clay did not have — Ellis is a father of five children and classified 3-A in the draft.

St. Joseph Sets Three Records In Defending Class C Title

By TOMMY POINDEXTER
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — Three meet records fell as St. Joseph of Jeanerette successfully defended their Class C state title and in the process set three new state records. The Jeanerette school racked up 65 points to 60 for runner-up St. Joseph of Rayne.

Pelican which was a high favorite for the title finished third with 45 marks while Morganza fell to the number four slot with 40. St. Gabriel grabbed off fifth with 20. Waterproof finished sixth with 17, Grand Lake tallied for seventh with 16, Davidson chalked up 12, Rougon finished with 11, Innis and Laccassine each had six, Centerville netted five, East Brouard four, Hall Summit, Martin, Maurice and Sikes all had three and Stanley finished with one.

The defending champions used six first places to cop the crown including three relay victories. A speedy foursome of Steve Boudreux, Kevin Bacala, Ron Espinosa and Louis Faucheu got the ball rolling with a 1:33.6 clocking in the 880 relay to break the 10 year-old mark set by Start in 1957 at 1:34.1. The same foursome came back to clock a 45.2 in the 440 baton chase to take a slight edge over St. Joseph of Rayne. But their big effort came in the mile relay as they sped off a 3:34.4 cutting four tenths of a second off the old mark set in 1964 by Roanoke.

Field ace George Muffoletto of Jeanerette came through with a fine 142-1/2 toss in the discus to edge the old fest mark of 139-2 1/2 set in 1965 by Hicks of Dubberly. Teammate Jimmy Savay threw the 12 pound iron ball 46-3/4 for another St. Joseph first place.

Gary Prudhomme Pelican's jack of all trades, got off to a bad start in the 120 high sticks and could only manage a third place finish but came back in the 180's to clock a 20.5 for a gold medal in addition to finishing third in both the triple jump and long jump.

Pelican's Lyn Stennett, tossed the spear 175-9 1/2 to grab the Class C state crown while teammate Dan Chamberlin grabbed off fourth place honors.

Big Louis Foucheaux of St. Joseph of Jeanerette had to come from behind George LaBau of Grand Lake in the 440 dash to win in 52 seconds flat while LaBau was timed in 52.1.

Rayne's Fred Richard reeled off a 10.7 in the century to take a slight edge over Ted Brasher and John Anderson both of Pelican who were clocked in 10.8.

Mark Pollard of Innis stepped off a 4:45.6 in the mile run to upset the highly favored Steve Townsend of Davidson.

Rayne's Wayne Vonderstien was a double winner copping both the 120 high stick title with a 15.3 clocking and the triple jump with a leap of 43-3 1/2 in addition to placing second in the long jump with a 21-7 jump be- hind Mike Dickenson of Morganza who won the event with a fine 21-9 1/2 leap.

Coach Woodrow Turner Vellow Jockey's, the kingspins of Louisiana track for the last decade, finished third with 40 points. South Terrebonne had 22 1/2, defending champion Bolton, 22, Fair Park, 21, Baton Rouge, 18 1/2, Woodlawn, 15. Fortier, 14, and West Monroe and LaGrange rounded out the top 10 with nine each.

It was the first time since 1961 that the AAA crown moved south of Alexandria, Lafayette turned the trick that year.

Coffee sprinted to a wind-aided 9.6 in the 100 dash, came back to clock a 21.1 in the 220 dash and anchored Lee's winning 880 and 440 yard relay teams.

In one of the meet's biggest upsets, Leonard Wyat of Baton Rouge gained top honors in the men's midget race. LaGrange's running man in 2:06. Wyat stepped on the 880 in 1:57.1. Quachita's lone entry, Randy Piner, failed to place.

Three records went on the record book and three others were broken or tied but disallowed by the wind.

West Monroe's Larry Ashley upheld his own pole vault record, shared with David Oliver of Baton Rouge to 14-5, clearing the height on the first try. Ashley and Oliver tied for top honors in the state meet at Natchitoches last year at 14-3%.

He had strong competition from Mike Anderson of Lee, who went 14-0 and Bill Heroman of Baton Rouge, who sailed over 13-8.

Bird's Owen Self broke his own mile run record, but was well over his personal best. Self ran away from the rest of the field the first lap and went on to win by 40 yards with a 4:13.4. It lowered his record of 4:19.4 set last year. Taylor Autman of Fortier was second with a 4:27.9.

Self has run a 4:11.8 this season.

Bolton's spectacular Johnny Carter accounted for the other records, running a blistering 48.8 in the open quarter. Carter, who finished second in the 100 and 220, broke the old mark of 49.1 set by Bo Campbell of Byrd in 1958 and tied by Maurice LeBlanc of Lafayette in 1965.

Byrd's Doug Cook clocked the state's first sub 19 second low hurdle time by stepping off at 18.6. However, his time was not allowed because of the wind. Woodlawn's Ross Oglesby was leading Cook by almost two yards nearing the end of the race, but hit the next to last hurdle and finished second with 18.9.

Oglesby had earlier tied the old high hurdle record of 14.1 but that time was also disallowed.

Jim Thomas of Broadmoor set the high hurdle mark last year and Dalton LeBlanc of Houma's Terrebonne and a star sprinter at Northeast, has the low hurdle record of 19.1 set in 1962.

Danny Cockerham of South Terrebonne was the meet's only other double winner, tossing the shotput 56-5 1/2 and coming back to take the discus honors with a 159-5 1/2 heave.

Neville, which qualified in the 880 and mile relay teams won victories in the District 1-AAA meet in Woodlawn, finished fourth in the 880 in 1:30.6, but suffered a severe setback in the mile.

Running almost neck and neck with Lee and Lafayette through the first three legs, Marion Connor and two against Juan Botta. Tiger had a light workout in a gym here.

Tiger won the crown from Torres on a 15-round decision last Dec. 16.

The club has belted 14 homers for the season, surprising muscle for the Sox.

An improved Don Buford at third base, a healthy Ward in left field and a fast start by pitcher Joel Horlen have contributed greatly to the Sox surge.

Stanky said of Horlen, who had a 3-0 record for his first four starts and a slick 1.16 ERA: "Joe's mistakes last year were homers. This year, they're singles."

Buford has only a .221 batting mark, but has walked 11 times and the little third sacker has been a defensive surprise.

"Last year, you couldn't rate Buford more than little-above-average third baseman," commented Stanky.

"But this year, he's long-arming measuring his throws to first and they aren't going into the reeling Baltimore Orioles 13-13.

Coffee Leads Lee To AAA Track Crown

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS — Al Caffee took two firsts and anchored two winning relay teams to lead Lee High to the Louisiana AAA track and field championship as the Rebels from Baton Rouge won the AAA track and field championship at the Rebels from Baton Rouge.

Then the almost impossible happened. Mabrey had taken about a half-step lead over Lee when he hit his leg with the baton, sending the baton sailing through the air. Had it not happened, Mabrey could have won by a good five yards. Lafayette won the race in 3:23.1.

West Monroe's star speedster Larry Beebe ended his fabulous four year career as a Rebel, taking third in the 440 yard dash with a 50.1. Beebe entered the Race with his right leg still giving him trouble from where he injured it in the Twin-City relays last month.

During Beebe's four years at West Monroe, he set a record in each of the first three before turning to the relays this season.

The sandy-haired, lanky marvel ran the state's best treemans mile, the next 880 dash as a sophomore (winning third in the state meet), and came back to win the AAA state championship in the event with a 1:53.3 at Natchitoches last year. He then lowered that to 1:52.0, one of the best in the nation, at the Preptacular in Alexandria last year.

In one of the meet's biggest upsets, Leonard Wyat of Baton Rouge gained top honors in the men's midget race. LaGrange's running man in 2:06. Wyat stepped on the 880 in 1:57.1. Quachita's lone entry, Randy Piner, failed to place.

Tigers Host 6 Opponents On Grid Slate

JONESBORO (Special) — The Jonesboro-Hodge High School Tigers will play six of their 10 scheduled football games at home in 1967, according to a schedule announced by JHHS principal John Haile and coach Bobby Stone this week.

The Tigers, now participating in the fast-paced football practice, had a 6-4 record in 1966, dropping two games by a single point, and another by a touchdown. They will meet the same 10 opponents they faced in 1966.

That was also their first season in District 1-AA, and they finished third with a 3-2 circuit mark, losing to champion Jesuit and runner-up Springhill. This year, they meet both those foes at Jonesboro.

Stone will have some strong backfield candidates for the forthcoming season, and in fact who have had at least some varsity experience. It has been necessary to shift some to new positions in the practice sessions, however, in order to get maximum experience.

Tentatively, the probable fall starting lineup seems to be: Ends, Dennis Blackstock (switched from tackle) and Eddie Shanks; tackles Grover Mann and Don Gregory; guards Johnny Warner and Ricky Rockett, or Randy Whitman; center Jerry Rasbury or Reggie Farley; quarterback Gary Brinson; halfbacks Rodney Mize and Ronnie Ray; and fullback Mike Womack (switched from half-back). Of course, there may be many changes in this by September.

The schedule for 1967:

Sept. 15 — West Monroe, home.

Sept. 22 — Springhill, home.

Sept. 29 — Minden, home.

Oct. 13 — Calhoun, (Homecoming)

Oct. 20 — Jesuit, x. home.

Oct. 27 — At Mindenfield, home.

Nov. 3 — At Minden, Caddo x.

Nov. 10 — At Ruston, x.

x District 1 — AA games.

Dear Abby

Wanted: One Minister To Marry But Not Officiate

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this isn't any of my business, but I can't stand to see what is going on without trying to help. A certain woman in this town has always had it in her head that her daughter should marry a minister.

The daughter is now 44 and she still isn't married. When the mother hears of an unmarried minister anywhere in the area they make a trip and start running after him.

One was a mere boy of 29, who finally asked for a transfer to get away from this mother-daughter team. Another, a widower of 55, used to hide from them.

The girl is nice enough but if her mother doesn't quit chasing ministers for her she will be an old maid forever. Is there any way I can help?

SORRY FOR THE GIRL

DEAR SORRY: If the daughter, at 44, is still going along with her mother's fixation about marrying a minister, there is nothing you can do — except, maybe, to find her a minister.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and need your help. I want to get my ears pierced, but my mother says it isn't necessary. I heard that you said you thought it was all right and that you had your ears pierced. Can you help me?

WANTS PIERCED EARS

DEAR WANTS: Sorry, Honey, no help form this corner. With regard to pierced ears, I said I did not have my ears pierced as I didn't need two more holes in my head.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is away on a foreign job and this problem confronts me: We have no children, therefore my neighbors, friends and relatives insist on sending their children (kids from 5 — who still wet the bed — to 15-year-olds) to stay overnight with me so I won't be "alone." I can lock my house up completely and I keep a loaded gun on my bedside table, and believe me I have never expressed a fear of being "alone" nor have I asked for company.

I have an office job and do not enjoy the extra bed-changing, meals and work involved with having these uninvited "guests." How can I let these well-meaning people know that I do not need anyone to baby-sit with me?

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI sorority members held their annual spring style show on the Frances Hotel Roof on Sunday afternoon. "Garden of Paradise" was the chosen theme for the event which featured the latest in teenage fashions from Maison LaFrance, modeled by sorority members.

'Garden Of Paradise' Chosen Theme For Style Show Presented By Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority

Refreshing shades of green mixed with dazzling white were featured in the decorations for the annual spring style show held Sunday afternoon on the Frances Hotel Roof by Lambda Sigma Chi sorority. The show entitled, "Garden of Paradise," displayed the latest in teenage fashions from Maison LaFrance, modeled by the sorority members.

The hotel roof was transformed into a flowering spring garden by a multitude of foliage and colorful paper blossoms. As each fashionably dressed model entered the garden she strolled through an arch covered in flowers and glistening greenery. Then, as she paused by a fountain, posed so guests could view the spring outfit she was wearing.

Mrs. Trichel was wearing a beige and black ensemble and Mrs. Crawford chose an orange and white linen.

Teachers and officers of Senior High No. 1 Sunday School Department of First Baptist Church, Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Radar, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Whitlock, Mr. and Mrs. James Cole, Miss Nell Cheek, Walter Mangham, Mrs. Mabel Ross and Mrs. J. R. Kennedy were guests.

A hand painted cake plate was presented Mrs. Trichel from the department members.

As each fashionably dressed model entered the garden she strolled through an arch covered in flowers and glistening greenery. Then, as she paused by a fountain, posed so guests could view the spring outfit she was wearing.

Horton and daughter, Margaret, a junior, wore the latest in dotted Swiss fashions.

Other models were Misses Abell, Ken Brazzel, Johnny Hines and Mike Kemp. Miss Sharon McKelvey rendered a Jackson, Martha Gough, Suzanne Mayo, Tessa Snively, Ann Vincent, Marianne Walker, Linda Wright and Sandy Zollinger.

Throughout the afternoon the piano during the show, Mrs. Alleman served as narrator.

Miss Fran Harbuck won the door prize, a dress from LaFrance.

Representing the sophomore class were Miss Susan McElroy and her mother, Mrs. W. M. McElroy, forming a well-dressed twosome in their white and olive green frocks as they assisted with the serving courtesies.

Court Nips Restoration Of Firemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals rejected Friday a labor union's bid to restore 17,000 abolished railroad firemen's jobs but said the railroads must bargain over future jobs.

"The railroad companies violated their duty to bargain with the firemen" after the expiration of a two-year federal compulsory arbitration law, the appeals court said.

The law, the first compulsory arbitration statute by Congress in peacetime history, expired 16 months ago.

The court ruling came at a time when Congress was considering another special law to avert a threatened nationwide railroad strike by six shop-craft unions.

In the firemen's case, the appeals court said Congress did not intend permanently to replace collective bargaining with the compulsory arbitration law.

The case involving the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has dragged through federal mediating efforts, Congress and the courts for nearly 10 years.

The ruling Friday still does not end the litigation in the firemen's case. The appeals court directed the union and the railroads "to submit within 10 days a proposed judgment, and to confer and endeavor to agree thereon."

The court said, however, that the railroads must bargain on a union request aimed at restoring thousands of firemen's jobs in the future.

But this duty to bargain "does not compel agreement," the court added.

Royal Couple Of Windsor Set Reunion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor looked forward Friday to celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary en route to England for a reunion with the Royal Family which appears to have lifted its long ban on the former Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The Windsors have accepted an invitation to attend the unveiling June 7 of a memorial plaque to the late Queen Mary at Marlborough House, the Queen's former residence. It is the first formal invitation issued by the Royal Family which included the American-born Duchess.

The couple will leave New York May 31 aboard the United States and will observe their anniversary June 3 with a gala dinner party on the liner. They will arrive in England two days before the ceremony and will, as usual, stay at a London hotel.

"The Duke and Duchess have been invited to attend unveiling of a plaque to the memory of Queen Mary in London and they are happy to do so," said a brief announcement issued by the couple from their Waldorf Towers apartment. "The Duchess has met the Queen and other members of the British Royal Family before."

That was a subtle reminder that the Duchess is not a complete stranger to her in-laws, although she has never met Queen Mother Elizabeth, who refused to receive her as long as George VI lived and is believed to have influenced her daughter to follow suit.

House Burns; Ouachita Firemen Battle Blaze

By MIKE MORAN
World Staff Writer

Plagued by lack of water, Ouachita Parish firemen gave up their fight Friday night against what they described as one of the "fastest" and "hottest" fires they had ever battled.

Burning with the fury of a bonfire, the residence of S. C. Nilan, about three miles west of N. 7th St. in West Monroe, was leveled as he, his wife and three children watched a baseball game at West Monroe High School.

First reported about 9:30 p.m., neighbors said that the fire must have erupted within a matter of minutes. One neighbor who reported she had passed the house on her way to a nearby store, said the house

THE RUSSIANS IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The flag of Russia flew over California soil from Sept. 10, 1812 to Dec. 12, 1841.

Ivan A. Kuske established the trading post of Fort Ross to buy pelts of seals and sea otters and claimed the Northern California coast for the czar. The Russian flag was lowered for the last time when the Russian property was sold to Capt. John A. Sutter in 1841.

U.S. Output Takes Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial output slipped slightly during April, carrying the sluggishness in production into the second quarter of the year.

The Federal Reserve Board said Friday its index of industrial production dropped to 155.9 per cent of the 1957-59 base period, down a half of one point from March. This was the lowest output in 11 months.

Government economists, however, called the drop insignificant and said it had been anticipated.

Administration officials have said their economic projection for the year called not only for a sluggish first quarter but also for a sluggish second quarter. The new figures confirm this for April.

An anticipated upsurge in the economy during the latter half of the year is the basis for the administration's proposed six per cent surtax on individual and corporate income taxes.

The April drop in the output of the nation's mines, mills and factories occurred despite a 10 per cent increase in auto production. This was more than offset, however, by declining output of other consumer durable goods, business equipment and materials such as iron and steel.

Production during April was the lowest since last May, when the index reached 155.3 on the way to its December peak of 159.

It dropped to 158.1 in January and to a revised 156.4 in February and March. The board had reported earlier a lower February level which was the basis for last month's report showing a slight increase during March.

Earlier this week the Commerce Department reported a fractional drop in retail sales for April but indicated the decline was too small to be of significance.

How Federal Legislation Affects Hotels Related

Albert L. McDermott, Washington representative of the American Hotel and Motel Association, told members of the Louisiana Hotel-Motel Association Friday how federal legislation is affecting the hotel and motel industry.

McDermott gave his speech on "Federal Legislation" at the first session of the annual spring meeting of the LHMA, now being held at the Frances Hotel in Monroe.

McDermott, as keynote speaker for the four-day convention, first discussed the aftermath of the wage and hour legislation which passed Congress last year. This legislation brought many hotels and motels under the federal minimum wage law for the first time.

According to McDermott, the interpretation of this law is creating some problems for the industry and will probably create more in the future.

Another topic of discussion in McDermott's address was that of increased taxes which may be placed on the industry as a result of increases in benefits in the social security system.

Finally, McDermott spoke of outdoor advertising and offered hope to the convention delegates that a revision will be soon, Tex., who spoke on the states in deciding which areas will be designated as "scenic areas."

Other activities of the Friday morning session included a speech by Walter M. Casey, president of the Edison Motor Hotel in Beaumont, Tex. He spoke on the history of the Red Book, which is a directory of all AHMA members, and of future improvements which may be made in the book.

Guest speaker for Friday's luncheon was G. Dean Garner, North Louisiana Division Commercial Manager for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in Shreveport. Garner spoke on "skippers," customers who enjoy the hospitality of a hotel and then depart without paying or paying fully for services rendered, and telephone security. He noted that often the telephone is a way of finding these "skippers."

Friday afternoon there was a panel discussion, "Cost of People," moderated by Emmett J. Bieger, president of the LHMA and the Jung Hotel in New Orleans. Other panel members were Harry H. Mais of Affiliates that a revision will be soon, Tex., who spoke on the social security system.

Churchman Appointed To Position

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Bishop Charles P. Greco, bishop of the diocese of Alexandria, has announced the appointment of Msgr. Marvin Bordelon, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Shreveport, as director of the newly established U. S. Bishops' Secretariat on World Justice and Peace. The Secretariat is the United States counterpart to the Pontifical Commission for Justice and Peace which was called for by Vatican Council II and set up by Pope Paul VI in January of this year.

According to Bishop John J. Dougherty of Newark, N.J., head of the special committee of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, the purpose of the committee is to "service existing agencies within the church in the United States with information on the situation of the poor nations."

Msgr. Bordelon served as assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Monroe, and as chaplain of the Newman Center at Northeast Louisiana State College, Monroe, and as vice chancellor ad secretaria to Bishop Greco.

Founder, editor and business manager of the diocesan newspaper from 1954-58, Msgr. Bordelon helped write, and edited the book, "The Parish in a Time of Change," just released

McKeithen Picks Woman As Director

BATON ROUGE (UPI) — Gov. John McKeithen Friday named Mrs. Wilma Lockhart executive director of the Louisiana Highway Safety Commission.

The appointment is effective May 15. A spokesman for the governor's office said Mrs. Lockhart's salary will be $12,000, up $200 from the $11,800 she drew as a member of the State Tax Commission.

McKeithen did not reappoint Mrs. Lockhart to the tax commission in December when her six-year term expired because she continued to favor property tax equalization.

The governor had favored tax equalization but dropped the issue in the face of stiff opposition from the politically powerful state tax assessors' association.

Since December, McKeithen has mentioned Mrs. Lockhart for several state jobs. She continued as a member of the tax commission until her appointment Friday to the Safety Commission.

The appointment leaves one position on the three-member tax commission vacant.

McKeithen said he has offered the position to several people but a state law prohibiting commission members from receiving any other salary kept them from taking the job.

Two other speakers are scheduled during the day also.

They are Bill Ade, AHMA field representative, who will speak on "Know Thy Travel," and Casey, who will speak on "Freedom is America's Responsibility — Peace Is the Responsibility of All Nations."

The meeting will conclude Sunday with a meeting of the board of directors, followed by a brunch at the Frances Hotel.

Teacher Set To Pursue 'Monkey' Suit

JACKSBORO, Tenn. (UPI) — A school teacher fired for teaching evolution said Friday he would proceed with his suit challenging Tennessee's famed "monkey law" despite his reinstatement.

Gary L. Scott, a 24-year-old general science teacher at Jacksboro High School said the Campbell County Board of Education's decision Thursday night to rehire him merely would alter the suit somewhat.

Scott said when he was first dismissed all he wanted was his pay for the rest of the year, but he broadened his suit to challenge the law itself when teacher groups rallied to his support.

But State Sen. Clayton Elam said Friday that Scott's action still may prove wholly unnecessary because by the time it comes to trial, the 42-year-old law may be off the books.

Elam pointed out he has a bill before the State Senate that would repeal the law, and that the measure should come up for consideration next Tuesday. He said he expected it to pass.

Dr. Peter J. Steinrohn

Among diseases, rubella (German measles) is a benign sort, but I am an ardent fan, but without a moustache and cloak and dagger to warn of danger.

By now most know that in the mother exposed to German measles (and infected by it) in the first weeks of pregnancy, there is likelihood there will be increased incidence of such congenital defects and visual and dental abnormalities.

1. Jackson Tarkow, M.D., of Mineola, N.Y., made a study of the outcome in 126 women who had rubella during pregnancy. Pregnancy was terminated by less than "doubtful" rather than "worthless" in describing the effects of gamma globulin. At this point in the fight against the effects of rubella, it would be thoughtless and premature to throw away any weapon — however questionable its value.

For Mrs. G. A. "parrot" tongue is the dry, shriveled tongue seen in people who are markedly dehydrated (without fluids).

Dr. Steinrohn is sorry he cannot answer readers' letters. Nevertheless, all questions of general interest are answered in late columns.

Here is a letter from a woman who had German measles during early pregnancy: Most doctors will disagree that gamma globulin is absolutely worthless; nevertheless, I put down her experience.

Dear Dr. Steinrohn: Every woman and doctor should be aware that gamma globulin is worthless in the prevention of German measles. My doctor didn't believe this so my unborn child died.

My period was a day late and I saw my daughter coming home with a rash. I did not allow her in the house and sent her to grandmother's. I contacted my doctor and he gave me gamma globulin and advised I would have six weeks immunity and could safely expose myself to German measles.

Two weeks after my daughter got sick my son became ill. I did not send him away but held him in my arms. This was two weeks later, a month from the inoculation with gamma globulin. I came down with a rash and fever and was diagnosed as having German measles.

PREGNANCY TERMINATED

My unborn child ceased growing. At four months my pregnancy was terminated by a "therapeutic" abortion as the doctor feared I might carry the grossly deformed fetus to term.

Believing the doctor and thinking I had immunity I had fearlessly exposed myself. Since this episode, I became aware that our local medical society in April of 1965 had sent a bulletin to their members, advising that gamma globulin was worthless in the prevention of German measles either in mother or fetus.

I hate to take issue with you,

David C. Richardson, who directs the U.S. Navy's air strikes over North Vietnam, says the North Vietnamese have demonstrated a "remarkable ability to rebuild rapidly."

Aerial interdiction of the movement of Communist troops and supplies to the south is never complete, Richardson reported in an interview with a Navy journalist that was made available to civilian newsmen.

"We don't, indeed, can't stop it all," Richardson said.

"We slow all of it, destroy a lot of it and we absorb a lot of his overall efforts in his own air defense and in making repairs."

"Interdiction is never complete. The question is: Is he getting through what he needs to carry out his plans? Or is he having to curtail his operations due to the severity of his shortages?"

Since last August, Richardson has been commander of Task Force 77, centered around aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The admiral, 52, from Meridian, Miss., is leaving his post May 17 for a new assignment, still undisclosed.

During his command, Richardson has had at his disposal over 400 aircraft, five attack aircraft carriers, including his

Among diseases, rubella (German measles) is a benign sort, without a moustache and cloak and dagger to warn of danger.

By now most know that in the mother exposed to German measles (and infected by it) in the first weeks of pregnancy, there is likelihood there will be increased incidence of such congenital defects and visual and dental abnormalities.

1. Jackson Tartakow, M.D. of Mineola, N.Y. made a study of the outcome in 126 women who had rubella during pregnancy. Pregnancy was terminated by therapeutic or spontaneous abortion in 39. Sixty-two gave birth to full term infants and 11 to premature ones. Congenital malformations occurred in 17 infants.

Rate was 16.7 per cent for major and 8.3 per cent for minor defects of infants when rubella occurred during the first three months. In a comparable group of 60 women without known rubella during pregnancy, incidence of malformations was 3.3 per cent for major and 1.7 per cent for minor defects.

Here is a letter from a woman who had German measles during early pregnancy: (Most doctors will disagree that gamma globulin is absolutely worthless — nevertheless, I put down her experience.)

Dear Dr. Steinrohn: Every woman and doctor should be aware that gamma globulin is worthless in the prevention of German measles. My doctor didn't believe this so my unborn child died.

My period was a day late and I saw my daughter coming home with a rash. I did not allow her in the house and sent her to grandmother's. I contacted my doctor and he gave me gamma globulin and advised I would have six weeks immunity and could safely expose myself to German measles.

Two weeks after my daughter got sick my son became ill. I did not send him away but held him in my arms. This was two weeks later, a month from the inoculation with gamma globulin. I came down with a rash and fever and was diagnosed as having German measles.

PREGNANCY TERMINATED

My unborn child ceased growing. At four months my pregnancy was terminated by a "therapeutic" abortion as the doctor feared I might carry the grossly deformed fetus to term.

Believing the doctor and thinking I had immunity I had fearlessly exposed myself. Since this episode, I became aware that our local medical society in April of 1965 had sent a bulletin to their members, advising that gamma globulin was worthless in the prevention of German measles either in mother or fetus.

I hate to take issue with you,

N. Vietnamese Rebuild Fast, Admiral Says

SAIGON (AP) — Rear Adm. David C. Richardson, who directs the U.S. Navy's air strikes over North Vietnam, says the North Vietnamese have demonstrated a "remarkable ability to rebuild rapidly."

Aerial interdiction of the movement of Communist troops and supplies to the south is never complete, Richardson reported in an interview with a Navy journalist that was made available to civilian newsmen.

"We don't, indeed, can't stop it all," Richardson said.

"We slow all of it, destroy a lot of it and we absorb a lot of his over-all efforts in his own air defense and in making repairs."

"Interdiction is never complete. The question is: Is he getting through what he needs to carry out his plans? Or is he having to curtail his operations due to the severity of his shortages?"

Since last August, Richardson has been commander of Task Force 77, centered around aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The admiral, 52, from Meridian, Miss., is leaving his post May 17 for a new assignment, still undisclosed.

During his command, Richardson has had at his disposal over 400 aircraft, five attack aircraft carriers, including his

Tell Me, Please

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please," at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

In our area around Eros a number of people have had their names removed from the voting lists. Where can a person write to find out if a federal law has been violated?

If you have reason to believe that the names have been removed without the voter's consent and that he or she is qualified otherwise, it is suggested you contact the federal authorities, such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation or the United States District Court at Monroe.

Could you tell me what can be done about persons who trim their trees and shrubs and pile the trimmings in the drainage ditch in front of their house?

Call the city government in the town in which you live or file a complaint with your city court authorities. In most towns and cities there are laws dealing with this type of thing.

Could you tell me please who H. B. Dean is and his address. I just love the way he explains the Bible verses in his little Bible Digest that you carry.

He is a Baptist minister at Baton Rouge. You can write him at 3435 Mohican Street, Baton Rouge.

Could you tell me what is the Justinian Code?

Issued in 533, it was the codification of Roman law by Byzantine Emperor Justinian.

Who was the Magna Carta signed?

It was signed at Runnymede June 15, 1215. The charter lists the rights and privileges of English barons after they had forced King John to accept it.

Could you please tell me when the Custer Massacre occurred and where?

It occurred June 25, 1876 when Gen. George A. Custer and his forces were killed at the Battle of Little Big Horn.

When the sales tax was first brought up, there was some talk of the police departments getting a raise from this tax. Lately, there has not been anything said about our underpaid police officers getting a raise. Are they going to get a raise from this tax?

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard answers that, if the Fifth District sales tax passes, minimum pay of starting policemen will be raised to $400 per month. There also will be raises "up the line," though these exact amounts, depending on budgetary considerations, have not been spelled out. Howard adds that "most all city employees" will get a raise, with the "hon's. share" to the "lower paid." In West Monroe, Mayor Bert Hatten answers, "Yes, the police department will get a substantial portion of proceeds from the tax." He adds that there will be a "revision upwards in all departments," though exact amounts have not been budgeted. West Monroe officials recently indicated one-third of proceeds would go for pay raises. Hatten said police starting pay would "approach $400."

Do the city planners (in Monroe) plan a road connecting Oliver Road to Lamy Lane to Armand through to the college, giving relief to Forsythe, Loop and Sterlington Road from heavy college traffic? Are there plans to make Forsythe and Loop Road into four lanes?

Planning Director George Parsons makes this answer: "The city Master Plan includes Forsythe Avenue and Loop Road except for a short section between Deborah Drive and the Sterlington Road as major streets to be a minimum four lanes as traffic loads justify the need and construction programs can be developed. The plan also proposes a new thoroughfare beginning at Forsythe east of Oliver Road and continuing to Lamy Lane near Louisville Avenue, the fence across Louisville and along the major drainage canal to DeStard Street. Development guide plans have also recommended a secondary street connection from Oliver Road to Lamy Lane and Armand Street; however provision of this street will likely depend on subdivision and development of the adjoining properties since it is not presently part of the major street plan."

Does the Monroe school superintendent and the parish school superintendent make the same salary? Do their assistant superintendents make the same?

They do not make the same. In both instances the city pays the larger salaries.

How large is and when was the West German Federal Republic established?

West Germany takes in an area of 35,712 square miles. It is comprised of those portions of Germany and Greater Berlin which had been assigned to the American, British and French zones of

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. S-13

What was the worst shipwreck disaster, when and how many lives lost?

The information Please

Almanac Atlas and Yearbook reports the Titanic which sank in the North Atlantic April 15, 1912 was the worst.

A total of 1,513 persons died in the disaster. The next worst was listed as being the Empress of Ireland which sank May 29, 1914 after a collision in the St. Lawrence River. Some 1,024 perished here. These disasters do not include military or naval action.

control after World War II and was proclaimed on May 23, 1949 with the capital at Bonn.

What was the 30 years war?

The war was fought in 1618-1648, England, Holland, France, Sweden and German Protestants fought against Spain, Italy and German Catholics. The peace of Westphalia ended the conflict with Alsace going to France. At the same time Swiss independence was recognized and German secularized states were given religious freedom.

Could you tell me what is the Justinian Code?

Issued in 533, it was the codification of Roman law by Byzantine Emperor Justinian.

Who was the Magna Carta signed?

It was signed at Runnymede June 15, 1215. The charter lists the rights and privileges of English barons after they had forced King John to accept it.

Could you please tell me when the Custer Massacre occurred and where?

It occurred June 25, 1876 when Gen. George A. Custer and his forces were killed at the Battle of Little Big Horn.

Recently I heard that some teachers in the Ouchita Parish and in the City of Monroe school systems have a certificate called "A," and that some have a "B," teaching certificate.

Will you please explain the difference in these certificates, if this is true?

Teaching certificates are graded from C to A. A certificate is probationary and for employment of not more than three years. A B certificate is issued to a teacher after completion of three successful years in his properly certified field. An A certificate applicant must be accepted it.

Could you please tell me when the Custer Massacre occurred and where?

It occurred June 25, 1876 when Gen. George A. Custer and his forces were killed at the Battle of Little Big Horn.

Monroe officials report that the city will ultimately pay from $23,000 to $25,000 of the total $60,000 cost of the downtown modernization plan. The city agreed to pay a maximum of 50 per cent, but pledges of financial participation from merchants and property owners in the area are reported to have exceeded 50 per cent, leaving less than half for the city to pay.

Minor Injuries Are Received

A Northeast coed received minor injuries in a two-car crash Friday afternoon at the intersection of Hall St. and Wood St.

According to investigating officers Linda Gail Silmon, 18, 201 Contempo Ave., West Monroe was treated at St. Francis for cuts and bruises and released.

Officers said the accident occurred when an auto driven by Clarence Marks, 74, 600 Rochelle Ave., Monroe, which was traveling west on Wood St. apparently ran a stop sign and hit the Silmon vehicle.

Officers charged Marks with running a stop sign.

Complete New York Stock Exchange Transactions

NEW YORK (AP) - Friday's complete New York Stock Exchange prices:

Stock Market Slips To Third Lossing Session

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was jolted to a sharp loss Friday by a late selling surge.

It was the third losing session of the week.

The market opened mixed and then started a modest climb. About midday the averages started slipping and took their worst setback in the final hour.

As prices fell the pace of trading speeded and the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape was two minutes late at the reporting floor transactions at the close.

The decline accelerated after two major developments on the economic front were reported.

The Federal Reserve Board announced that the output of the nation's mines, mills and factories fell slightly during April to its lowest level in 11 months.

The board's index of industrial production declined to 155.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 156.4 in April. The board also noted that retail sales in April were virtually unchanged.

The Business Council, which is made up of leading industrialists, received from its consulting economists a forecast that the Federal deficit may soar to $18 billion in fiscal 1968 instead of the $8.1 billion foreseen by President Johnson.

In that case, the economists said, a tax surcharge would be desirable for both budgetary and anti-inflationary reasons, but starting perhaps Oct. 1 instead of July 1 as Johnson proposed in January.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 6.18 to 890.03. The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 1.1 to 327.8 with industrials off 2.9, rails up .3 and utilities unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange common stock index lost 11 cents in the average price of a share. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off .27 at 93.48.

On Friday 1,456 issues traded, 620 declined and 554 advanced. There were 142 new 1967 highs and 8 new lows.

Volume edged up to 10.48 million shares.

Among the 15 most active stocks, 6 advanced, 6 declined and American Standard, Kern County Land and Pan American Sulphur were unchanged.

Standard Prudential United, off .7 at 113% on 222,900 shares, was the most active.

Gildden, up .8 at 304 on 214,500 shares, was second most active. Gildden and General Aniline announced that they were discussing a possible merger. General Aniline dipped .3 to 23.4.

Fieldcrest Mills fell 3% to 25% following announcement that Fieldcrest and Dan River Mills had agreed to merge. Dan River added .4 at 24.

Hammond Organ declined 2 to 15% following a dividend cut.

Motors, Rubbers, mail order-retails, chemicals, oils, tobacco, building materials and drugs declined. Aircrafts, airlines and farm implements advanced.

The averages were hurt by declines of 4 to 165 by du Pont and of 1 to 141% by Eastman Kodak.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. The exchange's index rose .8 to 87.15. Volume dipped to 4.72 million shares. Lundy Electronics jumped more than 6 points. Consolidated Oil, Great American Industries and Bunker Ramo gained about a point.

Corporate bonds declined and governments advanced.

Futures Up On Chicago Trade Board

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures prices firmed up at the close of trading for the week on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

Deals were at best dull throughout most of the session, except for periodic spurts of activity.

During one such burst, near the close, wheat futures advanced to their best showing of the day then fell back somewhat under profit taking.

One influence for the wheat activity was the reported purchase by Brazil of some 3 million bushels of wheat.

Corn futures activity was confined largely to local trading, except for some good commission house support at the opening. Good commercial interest for soybeans sent prices up 1/2 to 3 cents a bushel. Pakis tan reportedly bought oil and this imparted some strength to the soybean oil and soybean meal markets.

Oats were relatively unchanged while rye closed mostly higher. Both were light traded.

Choice steers were actively supported by commission houses and closed higher.

At the close wheat was 1/2 lower to 3 cents a bushel higher; May $1.64, corn was 1/2 to 3 cents higher; May $1.33; oats 1/2 cents higher; rye 1/2 to 1/2 cents higher; May $1.22; and soybeans were up 1/2 cents higher. May changed to 3 cents higher. May $2.83.

Futures Up On Chicago Trade Board

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures prices firmed up at the close of trading for the week on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

Dealers were at best dull throughout most of the session, except for periodic spurts of activity.

During one such burst, near the close, wheat futures advanced to their best showing of the day then fell back somewhat under profit taking.

One influence for the wheat activity was the reported purchase by Brazil of some 3 million bushels of wheat.

Corn futures activity was confined largely to local trading except for some good commission house support at the openning. Good commercial interest support for soybeans sent prices up $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent a bushel. Pakistan reportedly bought oil and this imparted some strength to the soybean oil and soybean meal markets.

Oats were relatively unchanged while rye closed mostly higher. Both were light traded.

Choice steers were actively supported by commission houses and closed higher.

At the close wheat was $\frac{1}{2}$ lower to $\frac{1}{4}$ cents a bushel higher; May \$1.64; corn was $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cents higher, May \$1.33 $\frac{1}{4}$; oats were $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher; May 70 $\frac{1}{4}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ cents; rye was $\frac{1}{2}$ lower to 15 cents higher. May \$1.22 $\frac{1}{4}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ cents and soybeans were unchanged to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher; May \$2.83 $\frac{1}{4}$.

WHEN JUDY Garland was the hottest singer in showbiz Marlene Dietrich was at her beck and call... Marlene now thinks Dionne Warwick is the hottest young singer in showbiz... Arlene Francis and her husband Martin Gabel tossed a party for the headlined set, the big draw of course as at all Manhattan parties in the Golden Alpenstock Set, was Jacqueline Kennedy... Arlene confided to a friend later that she was mildly horrified that her party subsequently and certainly consequently had been considerably publicized... Arlene said she was a little embarrassed and sorry about all that publicity for Mrs. JFK and wished it hadn't been printed... "Then why did you invite the city's biggest society columnist - Suzy Knickerbocker?" Arlene was asked... Oh, she explained. The William Paley's flew off to Israel, which should give N.Y. society pages a slight respite from the beautiful Babe Paley's high fashion for a few weeks... Biggest rackets around New York apart from narcotics and gambling is bootleg liquor, now literally bigger than at any time during Prohibition, one inside expert assured us... It's peddled to many cynical barkeeps and mob-owned discoteques who care about nothing but buying cheap and peddling at gouge prices... Next, black market cigarettes, the heaviest slice of whose price overwhelmingly is the assorted taxes, especially in high-tax N.Y. City and State... Highjacking also is getting stylish in vicious fashion... Plus bootlegged medicines, some pifferen in huge lots, others prepared under conditions that would frighten the sloppiest doctor... It's a Switchblade Era in N.Y. right now.

Purist - tourist friend of ours came back from Montreal's Expo-67 and complained that of all places, "The Russian Pavilion didn't have one glass of tea!" Leslie Uggams suddenly, and deservedly, is capturing the rapturous fancies of N.Y. journalists who cover the legitimate stage, ever since she exploded galvanically in an otherwise so-so new musical "Hallelujah".... It's an amusing example of peripheral showbiz swaberry: the stories detail what would seem to be Miss Uggams' instant emergence into the bigtime entertainment whirl.

Pushed aside are the considerable successes the gutted, attractive Leslie enjoyed in night clubs (she played the Plaza Hotel's Persian Room here last year, and that's the peak of Manhattan's high (saloon style) and television she sang almost four TV seasons as sole feminine member of Mitch Miller's "Singalong" series) and as a star of that longrun nationally and enthusiastically viewed program, actually has been a far bigger as national star than most big stage-names on Broadway... So sometimes the Legit-stage and its chroniclers think they're the only ones here, meaning on Broadway.

Meanwhile she's enjoying her success, which has grown broader tho' she hasn't, through the years since she was six, when she was the beautiful little child with Ethel Waters in the TV series "Beauchamp" Leslie's kindergartener was the Milton Berle Show and the Imogene Coca-Sid Caesar hour, both of which she decorated prettily, and with Brando de Wilde and Mary Martin's daughter Heller attended the Professional Children's School (her mother was Cotton Club chorus girl with Lena Horne, and her dad was a member of the Hall Johnson Choir)... Later she appeared on "Name That Tune" on TV and won $12,500 which went into an educational fund.

On a trip to Australia, where she'd become a Down Under delight virtue her "Mitch Miller Show" TV longrun, she met an attractive young swinger named Graham Pratt to whom the notion of an inter-racial marriage never seemed impossible, and of course turned out not to be: they're married. Pratt has moved to New York where he now is a working Wall Streeter.

The Pratts live in a big Central Park West apartment, have dogs, and even plans more long range than the not entirely secure future of "Hallelujah".... Topmost among them - "Next I want to have a baby," states this well-adjusted new light brown toast of our town.

Martha Raye's leaving the N.Y. "Hello, Dolly" next October to return to her beloved fighting boys in Vietnam, but she won't be leaving "Dolly" we hear; the tale in Shubert Alley says Martha will take a considerably cutdown but still impressive "Hello, Dolly" troupe to Saigon and the surrounding hills, with a cast of 20, no sets nor props (they'll be whipped up on the Saigon scene) but with lots of glamorous costumes designed in fabrics suitable to withstand jungle rot.

Music for the show will be on tape via fine portable sound equipment so musicians won't be an added burden, and the unions will not complain about that because it's not a boxoffice attraction—simply for our entertainment-furnished GIs... Great Gal, Martha (or Maggie Reid, Martha's proper original moniker).

It was "Big A Night" at Sherry's in Philharmonic Hall: Teenty Anita Loos with tall George Abbott... George Abbott will be 80 June 25 but you'd never suspect it by the way he cha-chas around Roseland Ballroom regularly: Anita Loos was 74 last month and you'd never suspect that either.

A couple of great old youngsters:

Escalation

May Increase, Scribe Says

IRVINE, Calif. (UPI) — Further escalation of the war in Vietnam could lead the United States to a clash with Red China and perhaps with the Soviet Union, according to Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times.

Salisbury, who wrote a controversial series of articles from Hanoi last year, said "secret negotiations with Hanoi" were the only course the U.S. could pursue that might produce a settlement of the war.

"Now is the time to use a weapon that has not yet been injected into this war," he told about 500 persons at the University of California campus here. "That weapon is diplomacy."

Salisbury said the Vietnam situation would become more complex if Red Chinese Premier Mao Tse-Tung dies.

"His days may be ending soon," Salisbury said, "and will be quite willing to predict that the first move of his successor will be reunion with Moscow."

Once the reunion occurs, Salisbury added, "it could change the ball game in Vietnam beyond recognition."

HE'D HAD A MOTHER

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Kenny Zac was interviewing a young man who applied for a job. "Are you married?" asked Zac.

"No, I'm not," came the reply, "but I can take orders, if that's what you mean."
